CINDY FANNIN

We Came;

We Saw; . . .

Cindy,
The yearbook is pretty nice don't you agree? I wish you could be here to see me sign this yourself. And I really wish our dream about the prom had some fun times at the better ones were out of school. I am looking forward to that day. I know I am getting out! Meeting the strangest people over this, but I got these from Lynn. I remember when you're here, for a week before school. Well, at this time you get? You are insane - but I am glad Together we came; we saw; we'll never forget — The school YES, the fun NO!

There are many different steps to follow that can be very confusing. After the never-ending wait outside the gym, you get inside, look around and want to run back out the door.

Actually the CTR process isn't that difficult, and there are student helpers located throughout the gym to aid the students who find the procedure confusing. (There are usually many who do!) As they hurry across the gym floor from one teacher to another and one check point to another they begin to wonder if it is all worth it.

It would seem that after completing this task once, students would understand it, and find the next year much easier. Some upperclassmen are astonished to find that it doesn't get any easier, but they seem to survive it year after year.

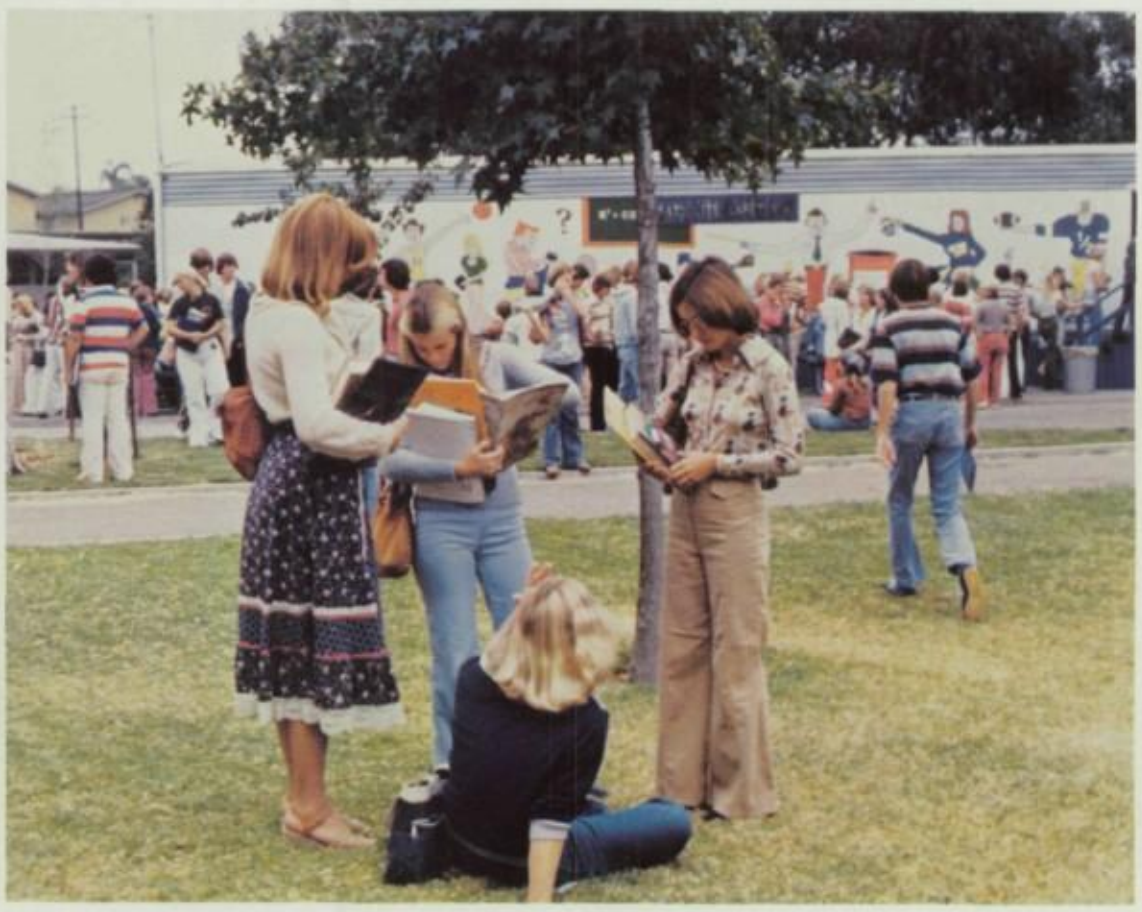
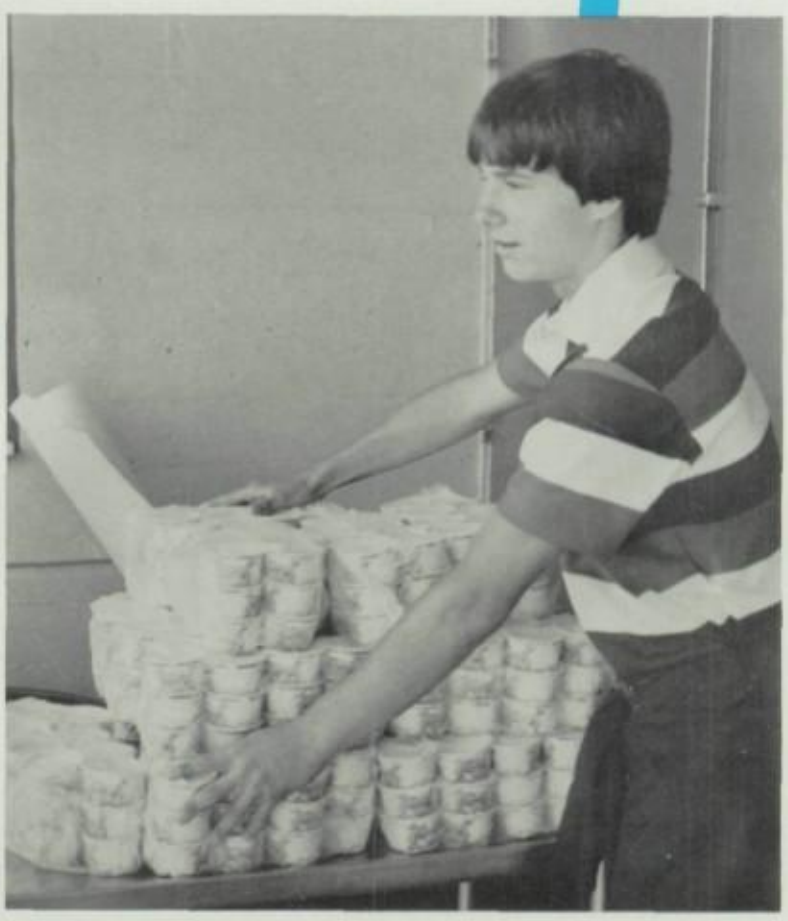
Freshmen Arrive As Seniors Depart



Welcome Week Brings Excitement To Freshmen



Freshmen Welcome Week provided many activities involving students. Each of the four classes participated in different races which went on through out the week, and the rest of the school year. At the end of the year the winning class received three hundred dollars. The prize money was provided by the classes, fifty dollars each, and the rest by the ASB. Some of the races were, potato sack races, melting a block of ice, watermelon and pie eating contests. The Senior class made a special effort to welcome the Freshmen by treating them to ice cream. The week's activities were culminated by a welcome dance held on Friday night.

Daisy Chain Leads Graduation

After a week of deliberation by the faculty and administration, forty Juniors were awarded the honor of being selected for the Daisy Chain. Each year students are chosen on the basis of scholastic merit and participation in extra-curricular activities. At graduation these twenty girls and twenty boys formed a procession carrying a chain of daisys and ivy for the opening ceremony. Ten students were also chosen to be ushers.

On the Wednesday before graduation, the group went up to San Marcos in station wagons and after a couple hours returned with the cars overflowing and decorated with an abundance of daisys. Graduation morning, they again met to put the chain together. More than twenty hours of work was contributed to the total making of the chain.

Despite the confiscation of all water guns, the traditional event was fun for all who participated. At the conclusion of graduation day, many of the Daisy Chain members and Ushers, still in their dresses and tuxedos, went for dinner to Alfonso's in La Jolla, to end a memorable experience.

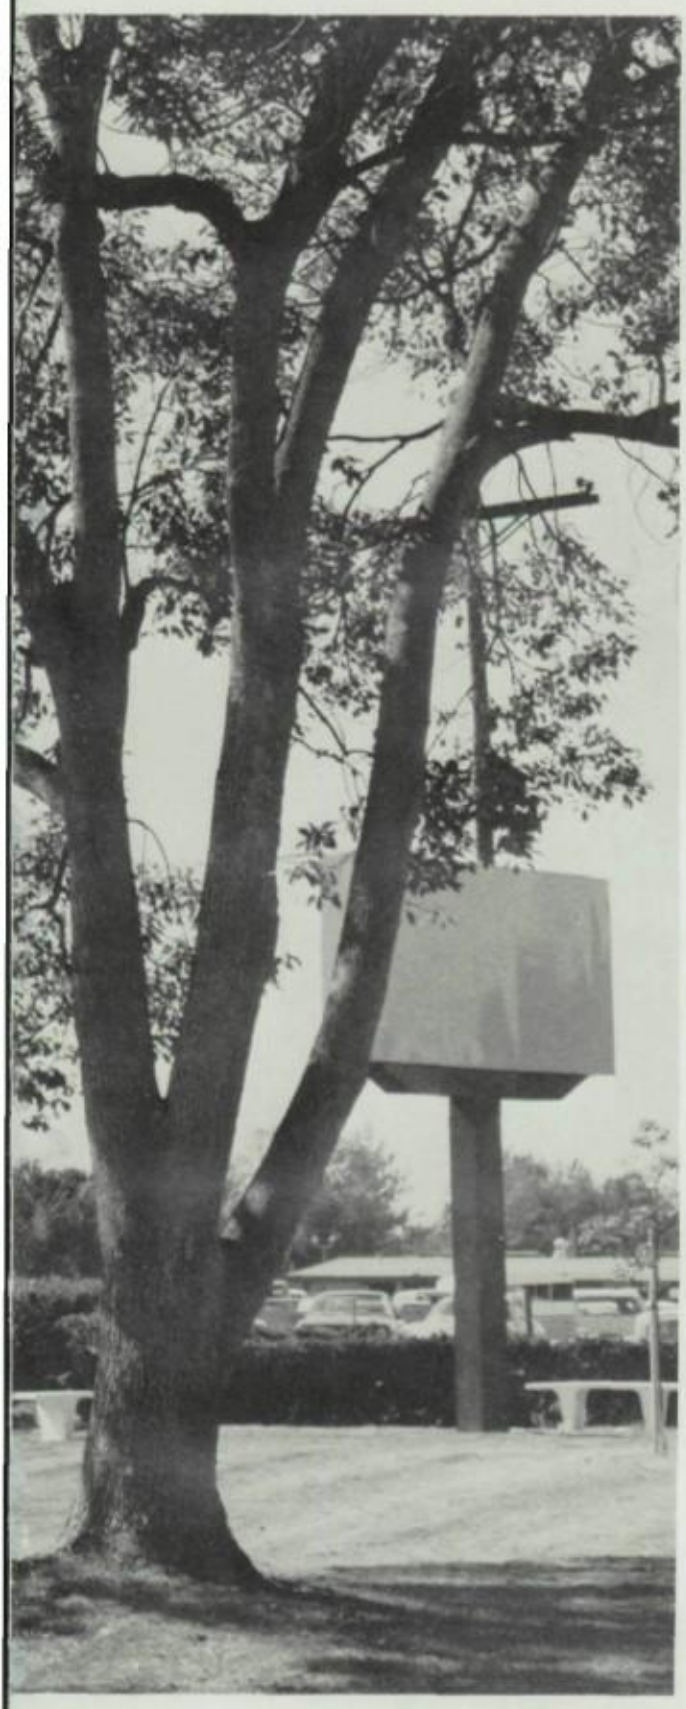
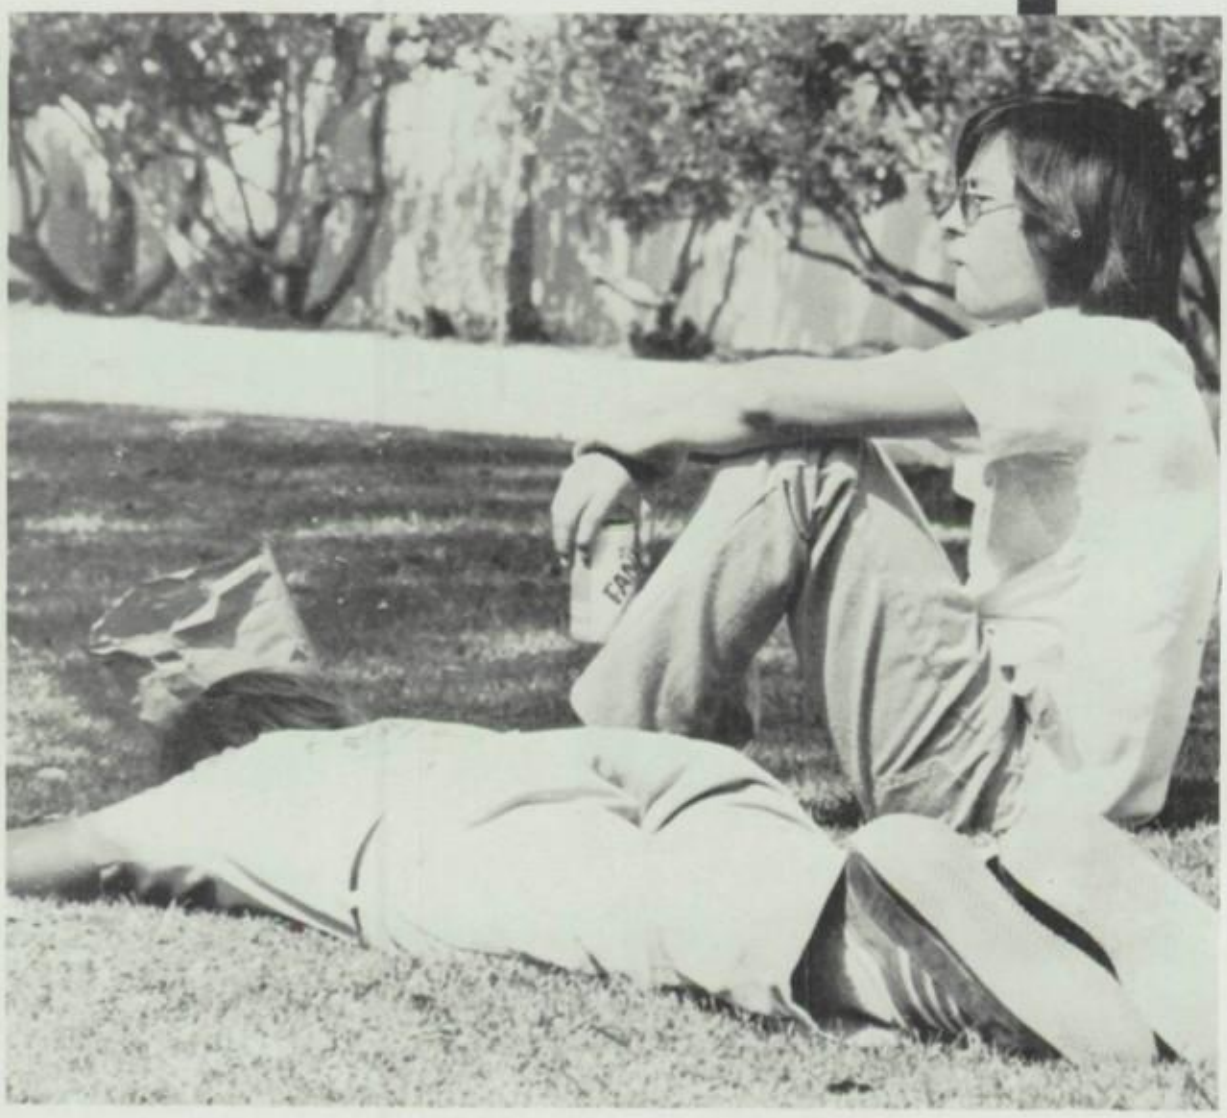
We Achieved





Four years ago when the seniors of 1978 were freshmen, many were quite confused about what their goals in high school were going to be. Many questions were rapidly going through their heads: "Will I get good grades? Will I enjoy high school life? Will I get along with my teachers?"

So, many set goals for themselves to prepare for college, or whatever they were interested in doing after high school. They all know they should achieve these goals by their senior year.

Now most graduates already have a vague picture of what they want their future to be like. Many will attend college in the area, many will go away to college, and some will get jobs or get married. The important thing is that most have achieved the goals they set as freshmen, and with this they will go on to have a very promising future.

Inspire Class of '78

With the help of their advisors, the Senior class officers provided many activities for the class of '78, which became one of the wealthiest classes ever. The officers met every Thursday to discuss and plan activities. Motivated by the officers the Senior Senate helped with various events.

The start of the school year brought with it a busy schedule. For the Frosh Welcome Week, the Senior class held an ice cream social and gave free ice cream to the freshmen. During October for a community service, Senior students painted the bridge over the freeway. Next they held the traditional spaghetti dinner for the Back-to-School night. The Senior Dance took place in January. March brought with it the second annual Senior Follies. The donkeys proved to rule both the Seniors and the Faculty at the Donkey Basketball game. Baccalaureate was held in Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church. Friends exchanged memories and tears during the annual signing party to conclude the 1978 school year.

Special Students Are Recognized

Every year Girls and Boys State Representatives are chosen by the American Legion. Academic ability, involvement in student government and the ability to get along with others are some of the factors that are taken into consideration when choosing the representatives.

All who are chosen to be representatives attend a ten day session in Sacramento and each person represents their high school and legion chapter. They all created their own state beginning at the city level, as far as higher government. Each student acts as a citizen representing their area. Some of the activities were debating issues, passing laws and trying the District and Supreme Courts. All of the activities were learning experiences. Not only did these girls and boys learn new responsibilities but most important many new friendships were made.

Accomplishments

The Bank of America sponsors awards given to selected Seniors. Consideration is given to their grade point average, participation in activities, and general involvement in school and community. First, teachers choose qualified students from each of four major fields of study: Fine Arts, Liberal Arts, Math/Science and Vocational Arts. The selected students compete by writing a short composition in answer to a question concerning their field; this is judged by a panel of teachers and a discussion period follows. Plaque winners are chosen from each major group, and certificate winners represent specialized areas of study. The four plaque winners go on to compete in the Zone Event which involves students from other schools in the area. There is also a Final Event on an even larger scale.

During mid-December, Seniors voted for the students they felt most deserved an award in a special field. The standouts were changed this year to incorporate awards which the student had to achieve for himself.

Some Seniors Really Stood Out

(right) Ken McDill and Peggy Adams-best athletes.

We Came

We Enjoyed

Students enjoyed many activities that Grossmont had offered throughout the year. One of these activities was the Christmas Pageant. Many students participated in this, during its 52nd year of production. Another activity that was enjoyed was the Powder Puff football game. In the past years at Grossmont the Hi-Fiettes have played the women faculty, but this year there was a change. The Hi-Fiettes played the Freshmen, J.V., and the Varsity Cheerleaders. Class Competition was a major activity of the year. It involved many students in each of the grades. The competition took place during the lunch break throughout the year. Many of the different races included; a tri-cycle race, potato sack race, and a melting of a twenty-five pound block of ice.

Activities are often what keeps the student involved in school. They give the students something to look forward to. They give them some excitement in their day to day school life.

We'll Never Forget

Dance Reflects Season's Romance

The traditional "girl ask guy" Christmas Dance, one of many student body holiday activities, was held at the spacious Al Bahr Temple in Kearney Mesa on December 10th. As early as the first day of school, some girls began scanning the campus to find the perfect date, and then schemed for three months about how to ask him to attend. Throughout the romantic evening, couples danced to the music of Prysm, while others periodically visited with one another, enjoyed refreshments, or scanned the walls for their personal momento of the evening's festivities, a Christmas tree ornament labeled for each couple and hung on ribbon around the dance floor.

Student Conclave Selects ASB

One of the many unique activities at Grossmont, the Annual Nominating Convention, is the method of selecting candidates for the ASB election. The ranks of contenders for the year's ASB Commission were narrowed to two nominees for each office, during two days of grueling decision making. All offices were contested, with as many as six hopefuls competing for Secretary. The convention process was buttressed by a small army of 105 officials, talliers, sergeant-at-arms, and pages. The delegates, each representing seven students, were grouped into 20 delegations, each having its own unique style. The Convention was the culmination of months of intensive planning by the ASB, who tried to copy the procedures of the Presidential Nominating Conventions. Pictured at lower left is Dan Weintraub "getting out the vote."

Lower right: Sherri Walters, Steve Grove, and Dave Helfand.

ASB Serves Student Needs

The Associated Student Body performed a dual role. What many students saw, and many considered the most important task, was the student activities program. The ASB sponsored and supported many activities that the administration lacked the time and energy to provide. But the ASB did more than sponsor activities, it was the students' voice. ASB worked constantly to represent the wishes of students to the Administration and beyond.

Grossmont's activity program involved thousands of dollars. All campus clubs and organizations had to be chartered by the Commissioner of Service, and all their funds went through the Commissioner of Finance. All dances and special assemblies were planned by the Commissioner of Activities. Students were hit with a barrage of ribbons, pom-pons, and pep rallies, all launched by the Commissioner of Spirit.

Grossmont head counts were made by the Commissioner of Elections and her Elections Board. The Commissioner of Sales had her hands full trying to feed hungry spectators. All the myriad functions of Hi-Fiettes were run by the Commissioner of Girls' Activities. The Commissioner of Boys' Activities publicized sports and organized other activities for Grossmont guys. And the majority of the posters and banners on campus were the work of the Commissioners of Publicity.

The ASB had many special projects. These included Welcome Week, Homecoming, Student Council, the Convention, Leadership Conferences, Racquetball tournaments, and a Class Competition designed to promote student involvement in school activities. ASB also worked on reducing school vandalism, wrote the student report for the school's accreditation, and, with all deliberate speed, worked to secure student rights.

Throughout it all, the ASB prospered under the leadership of President Jeannie Kenrick, who, assisted by Vice President Gary Depew and Secretary Kelly Harless, led the classes through many exhaustive labors.

A special word must be made about Advisor Gloria Jones, whose vast experience and sagacious wisdom made it all possible.

At the top of the opposite page is Jeannie "J.K." Kenrick explaining the mysteries of Homecoming to the Leadership Class.

Hi Fiettes offer Service

Hi Fiettes', a girls' service club, required time and patience from each board member in order for the organization to be a successful one.

Before the opening of school, plans had been made for the annual Hi Fiette Big-Little Sister program designed to welcome freshman girls.

Hi Fiettes' many activities have ranged from the Powder Puff Football game, where the Hi Fiette Board plays the Cheerleaders, to the annual Spring Fling Dance. Services the Hi Fiettes provide include the Thanksgiving Can Drive, Faculty Teas, and birthday flowers for birthday girls.

The Hi Fiettes' started a new idea which stemmed from the overload of applications for board members. Since over sixty girls applied and only twenty girls can become board members a reserve board was formed. These girls help the board members with various activities.

Cheer Defeats Hi Fiettes In Powder Puff

Once again, the Hi Fiettes sponsored the annual Powder Puff Football Game. With the help of many Varsity football players and coaches, the girls prepared for the event for several weeks. Instead of challenging the women faculty members, as was tradition, the Hi Fiettes' opponents were the Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders. Rooted on by ten rather strangly dressed male cheerleaders, both teams played a fun and exciting, but difficult, flag football game. With a final score of 20 to 8, the cheerleaders were victorious.

At top of page, Ken Notham, Chris Merrill and Ron Bassett enthusiastically bound towards the football field to cheer for Powder Puff Football players in a reversed-role afternoon of excitement.

Pageant Kindles Christmas Warmth

As orchestra music filled the Old Gym, the 52nd annual Christmas Pageant was about to be presented as Grossmont's traditional gift to the community. A mythical Medieval Court on Christmas Eve was depicted in the opening scene, where the King, Queen, Lords and Ladies were entertained by various songs and dances. Following this was the spectacular Madonna Scene where saintly Candlebearers knelt reverently before the Virgin Mary. The pageant's final Picture Scenes told the story of Mary and Joseph's travels to Bethlehem and Baby Jesus' birth. The Red Robe Choir also contributed their beautiful voices to these last scenes and sang the "Alleluia Chorus" and "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" which brought to a close this performance that once again reminded audiences of the wonder and beauty of the Christmas Season.

Turmoil Reigns In Rehearsals

Knees knocked and sweat broke out as the curtain rose on the Monday night performance of the 1978 Christmas Pageant.

From the elevating of the Little Angels to the precision needed to pull a curtain, practices ranged from one to three hours at a time as directors and students worked together to make the four pageant performances successful.

Drama Gets Its Act Together

The advanced Drama classes were composed of students who survived Drama I, and met period 2 and 3 every morning. Ms. Meyers instructed the classes except during a 3 month leave of absence.

Drama's first presentation was the 5th annual Dramathon. Students and parents filled the Old Gym during the three hour show of skits, parodies, songs, and dances. The Drama department kicked off the month of February with a 3 night run of "George Washington Slept Here" directed by Ms. Skinner. The cast included 16 people and after 4 weeks of long rehearsals the play was finally presented, complete with special effects like thunder storms, lawnmowers, a smokefilled fireplace, and destruction of the set at the end of the play. "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" was the Drama department's spring production. The play was presented to full audiences in early May. The spoof about Charlie Brown, written by Charles Schultz, dealt with many of the characters in the comic strip.

Smatterings, the annual final for the drama department, concluded the year for the Drama students. Material for Smatterings must be written solely by the student, five minutes in length, and have a theme.

The El Recuerdo camera captured the above aspiring "stars" on their way to Hollywood. The Drama Department boarded a bus towards bigger stages, brighter lights, larger audiences, and, of course, more money.

Drama's first semester performances included Dramathon and "George Washington Slept Here." Dramathon is a required assignment for advanced Drama students and consisted of parodies, skits, songs and dances. This year instead of the usual after-finals show, the Dramathon was presented before Halloween. This enabled a costume contest to take place; where students disguised as crayons won the prize.

"George Washington Slept Here", a light comedy directed by Ms. Skinner, a substitute for "mother" Meyers, was presented during the first week of February, after four weeks of long, often tiresome rehearsals. The play revolves around a family of four who search for the true home of George Washington. Continuing Grossmont's tradition, the Thespians entertained a variety of audiences during the year.

Hotdoggers Invade!

Having fun skiing down high slopes of powder snow was what ski club members thought about on Thursday nights as they met to discuss their common interest. They chose Big Bear as a location for one day ski trips and Mammoth for weekend trips, which both offered ample snow for the skiers. Club members also enjoyed lectures and films on skiing and the skill and endurance needed to become true masters of the sport.

Board Tallies Up Elections

The final outcome of the selection of class presidents, homecoming kings and queens, and the ASB student body were all a part of the duties given to the '77/'78 Election Board. Ballots were distributed and votes were tallied as more than 20 students donated their time and effort to bring results to the people of Grossmont.

Anglers Hooked on Fishing

The Anglers sponsored many projects and activities relating to fishing. The club arranged for special discounts for its members at supply stores, and received free fishing supplies and films from tackle companies. Expeditions were planned for both fresh water and ocean fishing enthusiasts. Overall, the Anglers provided many services for Grossmont fishermen.

The Math Club was an integral part of Grossmont's higher math program. It was composed of two groups: the Math Seminar night class, and the Calculus class. The Math Seminar was primarily designed to supplement the regular math curriculum with more challenging material. The members of the calculus class being, of course, especially gifted in mathematics, were automatic members of the club. The math team, which represented Grossmont at regional and local math competitions, was drawn from the ranks of the math club. The math team competed in many competitions, including tests at UCSD, SDSU, and Occidental College. Also, the club worked to prepare its members to represent Grossmont in national testing programs in which all schools participate each year.

Hiking Club Treks To Yosemite Institute

The Hiking Club, an organization formed primarily for the Yosemite Institute trip, met once a month. The requirements for the Hiking Club were a ten dollar deposit and a desire to go to Yosemite.

Hiking club members visited Yosemite Institute during the week of April 9-12. While they were there, students visited Yosemite Falls, Muir's cabin site, Mirror Lake, Indian Caves, and Mortar Sites. Members divided into groups in which they learned about glaciers, lake formations, Indian dwellings, Yosemite drainage systems, Hydrology, and Steam Braiding.

After five days in Yosemite Valley, students cross country skied to Crane Flats and spent the remainder of the week Snowshoeing, and viewing the San Joaquin Valley Coast Range, and the High Sierra.

Mr. Larry Nordell advises the Hiking Club and Robin Macnofsky is the president.

The total cost for this excursion amounted to 140 dollars.

Campus Life Does It All

Campus Life is a club where people get together to have fun and share with each other their feelings about life. The group starts each year off with their Burger Bash. Through out the year, activities included a kidnapping competition where groups compete with one another in order to find as many friends with an item that was particularly needed. This was a way in which Campus Life acquired many new members. If a group happened to lose the competition, they were in for a real shock. That's right, thirty volts of electricity went into the famous electric chair. Other activities were the Christmas present exchange, and their yearly haunted house. Campus Life is open to students to come and release their pressures of life and learn to lead a more balanced life style. Each of the activities were guided by the staff of Myles Gentzkow, Dave Lunsford, Janice Gracer and advisor Dennis Cook.

Gal Gets Boys Federation Going

Car rallies and raquetball tournaments dominated most of the sports. Although the club was meant for males, tradition was broken as Julie Eichinger, the first female of Boys Fed., took her place as president. Along with other officers, Julie and Advisor Jay Younger worked together to offer a wide choice of activities.

On-The-Beat For News Sources

Deadlines, copy, paste-up, news assignments . . . these were just a few of the many responsibilities a journalist faced when working on the Foothill Echoes, Grossmont's bi-weekly school newspaper.

Stories were assigned to reporters and editors alike so recent news could be brought to the student with quickness and accuracy in every issue. Whether it was a new swimming pool under construction or the latest in bathroom graffiti, the Echoes was on the scene to cover it, write it, and print it before preparing for the next newspaper.

Along with the work of editors and reporters, the advisor played a significant part in the production of the school paper. Mr. Geoffrey Anderson was in his second year of helping with the publication.

The staff's writing sparked controversy as the subject of student journalist's rights came up during the Fall.

Besides the regular processing of newspapers, top journalists were chosen to compete in the County Write-Offs to match their skills of news reporting with other county competitors.

CSF Represents High Achievers

The California Scholastic Federation was a club which represented Grossmont's high scholastic achievers. Entry requirements each semester were to receive, in specific courses, a minimum of three A's and one B on the semester report card. If a student remained a CSF member for four of their upper six semesters they were eligible to become a Life Member, and, as the year drew to a close, a banquet was given in their honor. As a Life Member, students were also awarded many scholarships and other grants. Meetings were held periodically during the year, and in February the group spent a fun-filled Saturday in Disneyland.

The Pep Band, a select group of 24 band members, entertained audiences throughout the year with their lively music. They performed at away football games and all basketball games, assemblies, and pep rallies, often doing tunes for cheerleading routines. The Pep Band was also a welcome addition to many other community activities. Group members in top row are J. Rodinec, M. LaFleur, S. Naser, S. Stumetz, S. Huruza, T. Denn, R. Elwin. Middle row: L. "Warmers Spark Spirit"

Dedicated, spirited, enthusiastic . . . these were a few words that described the 1977 Benchwarmers. Consisting of 25 senior girls and their six year old "mini" Benchwarmer, the group continually supported the varsity football team throughout its season. The girls contributed many hours of hard work for the team during both summer and fall months by serving refreshments during summer practices and often before games, decorating the locker room and lockers, and painting each week's 20 foot run-through. The club also promoted school spirit by wearing pep ribbons and special outfits each Friday, and cheering at games. Half-time activities included sitting on the football field benches, and holding the run-through as the team ran back onto the field.

With enthusiastic shouts and flying pom pons, the Benchwarmers, at top of page, express their spirit during a close football game against El Cajon at Helix Stadium early in the season. Musicians March Onward

The Royal Blue and Gold Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Nichols, entertained its audiences and lifted spirits during its half-time performances at home football games. In addition to these exhibitions, trips were made to Escondido, Mt. Carmel, Chaffey, and Bonita Vista tournament competitions, where the band consistently achieved high ratings. They also participated in the annual Mother Goose Parade, a march through the streets of Disneyland, and the annual Band Jamboree where all 9 schools in the Grossmont district performed their half-time shows. Although hard work and perseverance was needed from the band members, fun and excitement was also a part of their schedule, especially during their spring concert tour in Hawaii.

An atmosphere of nervousness and excitement surrounds Shari Frederick (right) as she performs for the first time with the band during a half-time show at Helix Stadium. Practice Makes Perfect

The year was filled with exciting events for the Drill Team and Banner Corps, besides their usual half-time shows at football games. Not only did they compete at Chaffey, Escondido, Mount Carmel, and Bonita Vista tournaments, but they also spent two thrilling weeks traveling through Hawaii with the band at Easter time.

Orchestra Blends Music

The Orchestra, directed by Mr. Nichols, is a group of 40 students interested in expressing themselves through music. The students provided music for the 52nd Christmas Pageant. The Orchestra was given the honor of performing in the East County Performing Arts Center for the Pep's Concert. Much of their time was spent rehearsing for the District and County Music Festivals.

The Concert Band, also directed by Mr. Nichols, is a select group of music students. Service clubs, Church Socials and Community Affairs are the Concert Band's many activities.

Choir Lifts Voices in Song

Mr. Robert Bocher, started the year off with a retreat to Camp Cuyamacca. The Choir practiced one hour every day for various festivals, including San Diego County Choir Festival and the Pop's Concert. The Choir was chosen to represent Southern California in a festival at San Jose. Members have toured San Francisco and sung in the traditional Christmas Pageant.

Girls Ensemble, a select group of girls chosen by Mr. Boucher, planned a trip to Monterey. The Girls sang for civic groups and in the Christmas Show at Balboa Park. With the help of Joyce Shoemaker, The Ensemble incorporated some dances into their songs.

Annual Staffers Struggle To Meet Deadlines

The El Recuerdo staff, advised by Georgia Heine, has spent many hours making layouts, writing headlines and copy, taking and cropping pictures, and tying up all the loose ends involved in putting together a yearbook. After the pages have been prepared by the staff members the section editors then check the pages from their section and turn them in to the advisor and co-editors-in-chief. They re-check everything to make sure pictures, copy, and headlines all fit. After the checking process is complete the pages are then ready to be sent to the publisher in Washington. The staff is also responsible for the sales and distribution of the annuals. Advertising is sold to off-set the rising printing costs.

The staff is chosen the preceeding spring by the editors through applications, teacher recommendations, and personal interviews. Thirty-two people were chosen from the seventy applicants. Even though annual staff requires much hard work by the members, most feel it is worth it because of the friendships made and the satisfaction of seeing the book and the students' reactions to it.

Heroes And Heroines Roam Campus

At bottom of page, Mary (Jan Selby) pops in to duel with Luke Skywalker of Star Wars (Gary DePew).

Homecoming was a week of activity. After long discussion, the Student Council selected the theme, Heroes and Heroines to symbolize the aspirations of students. Reflecting education's increasing use of films, the week was highlighted by visual events, such as a showing of excerpts from the heroic epic STAR WARS, and a professionally produced slide show featuring scenes from life at Grossmont. The ten Homecoming finalists gave students a fine display of romantic heroism by portraying the immortal lovers, Romeo and Juliet. Competition between classes highlighted the days commemorating historical and superhuman heroes, where representatives of each class re-enacted Washington's crossing the Delaware and attempted to leap tall buildings (boxes) in a single bound. The height of activities came Friday, when students dressed as the hero or heroine they most admired. Teachers attempting to call role found their classes strangely altered.

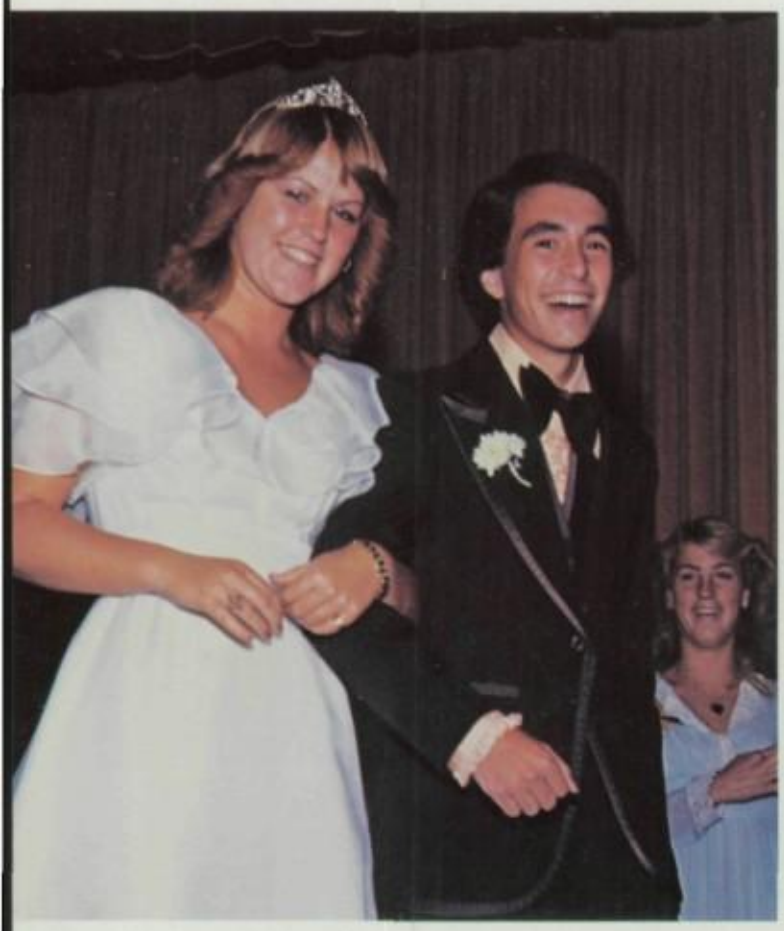
Night Reflects Magical Moods



The Homecoming Court and the King and Queen were elected first by the Senior Class and then by the entire school to recognize the school's outstanding seniors. As required by tradition, the Queen was announced at the half-time of the Homecoming game, while the King was proclaimed at the following dance.

Fire Them Up

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders Romped and Stomped to shower their spirit at the games. Led by head cheerleader Robin Hallum, the squad displayed many new and exciting cheers.

After finding out they had made Freshman Cheer, the girls had a big job to accomplish . . . cheer on a winning team. That's exactly what they did. They showed a lot of spirit as they cheered for the Foothillers. Both the J.V. and Frosh cheerleaders promoted school spirit at many of the events and assemblies.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

Victory was what the 1977 Varsity Cheer Squad tried to instill in the school. After long hours of practicing, 10 girls were chosen to represent our school. Once chosen, the girls continued to show their spirit by practicing their many cheers at six o'clock each morning. While at cheer camp the girls received outstanding scores, and won the Spirit Stick and Honorable Mention. The cheerleaders showed their enthusiasm at various school activities. Each one of the girls puts in their effort and support to cheer their team to victory.

Under the fine direction of Mr. Boucher the girls have received superior ratings for their exceptional talents. Among their programs this year they have traveled to both Fletcher Hills and Northmont elementary schools and displayed great enthusiasm. The girls have also entertained audiences by performing in a Benefit Concert to aid the Choir. Other outstanding performances included the Pops Concert and County Glee Festival.

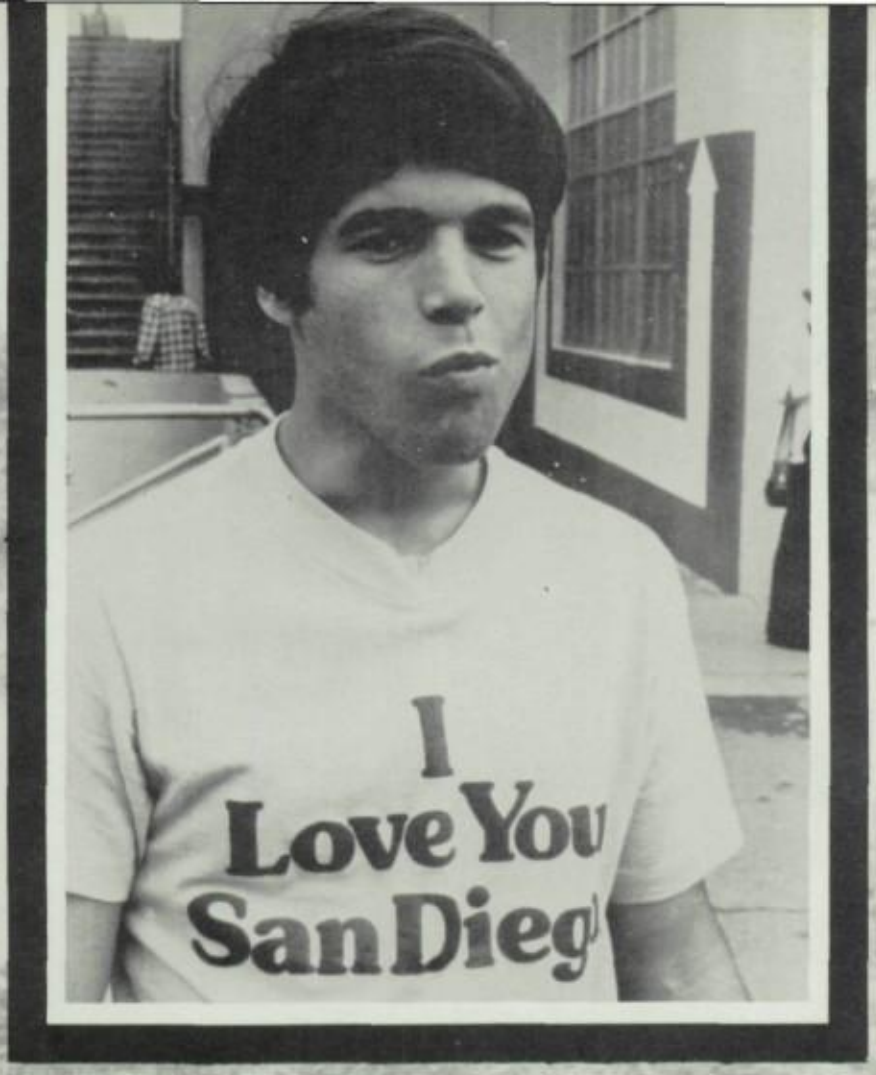
Campus Scene Depicts A Blend Of Old And New



Grossmont's students displayed a varied and sometimes bizarre blend of different life-styles, and each told a story through their dress fads. During fifty years of history, Grossmont witnessed great changes in the appearance of students while hair and dress length ebbed and flowed and dress codes all but disappeared.

Grossmont provided a fixed point through which all can be viewed. While, perhaps, "things were different" in our parents time, that time was spent at Grossmont. Ghosted in the background, the school's oldest building symbolizes the tradition and the change. Now the headquarters of a twenty thousand student district, it reflects the fact that even with change, Grossmont remains.

DECA Teaches Job Skills

Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) taught a multitude of business skills as it prepared a student for the outside world of marketing.

DECA gave first-hand experience by allowing club members to work in Hiller's Outpost, a student-managed store, and with customers as if functioning in a real merchandising situation. Members were then paid in DECA dollars which went toward activities and items of the club.

Not only did the organization include class work and student store participation, but it also planned frequent DECA conferences held for those students who wished to compete. The trips, such as the one made to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, offered Grossmont members a chance to meet other DECA people from around the U.S.

Speakers Prove Forensic Excellence

Carrying on an old tradition, the Speech Team established an excellent record in competition. Led by returning seniors Jenna Ward-Steinman, and David Johnson, the program took top honors at competitions such as the Patrick Henry Invitational, where Grossmont swept several major events, placing first overall.

The speech program provided training in many areas of public speaking. Speakers specialized in skills of debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratory, and interpretation of dramatic or humorous works. The school sent representatives to model legislatures, and service club competitions. In all competitions, the team kept a record of excellence.

America Shows AFS

The AFS club offers students the chance to go to a different country for the school year, and participate in that country's activities and responsibilities.

Through this club many students learn responsibility, how to understand the customs of different countries, and the most important thing, the students that get involved in AFS learn friendship and consideration for their fellow human beings.

This year there were two AFS students from different countries. They were Michal Chismariu from Israel, and Maryam Nazemy from Iran. These girls were two of the many foreign exchange students who came to America.

In discussion with the girls, they said that "This is a great city that we have come to. We are honored to be chosen to come to America. We like the wonderful recreational places that you have to offer to your visitors." But mostly they "like the people they have come to know."

The AFS club creates friendships that last for a lifetime.

There are many different activities that the club offers to its members. These activities varied from Friday night parties at a different member's house each month, to walking door-to-door to raise money for AFS Bonds. AFS Bonds help pay for a student from the United States to go to another country for a school year. This is what the club is actually for. To bring students from around the world together, so that they can learn and understand the people of all nationalities.

To the members of the AFS club, it is an enjoyable club where the members are usually involved with it their whole four years at Grossmont.

With the help of Mrs. Yolanda Lopez, the club has grown into a highly regarded organization, which the members are honored to be a part of. Mrs. Lopez has done an excellent job as advisor for the club.

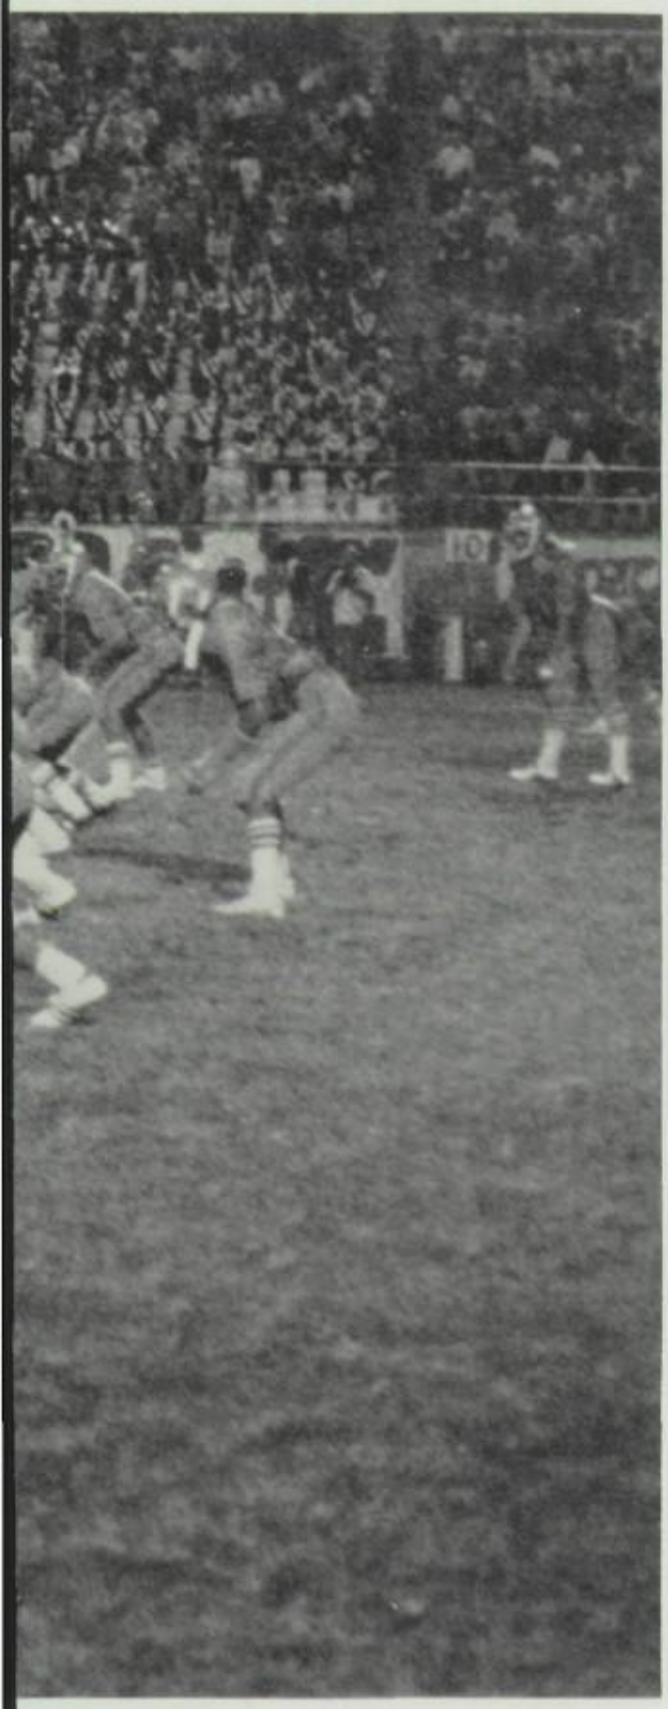
We Played



The sports teams played, and tried to make our teams number one. Even though they worked long hard hours they still didn't always come out at the top. The Volleyball team finished third in CIF finals. We had a reason to be proud of them. Victory was the only word they knew. Sports have always been an important part of Grossmont's life, with talented and dedicated coaching to inspire the team.

Sports are a good way of getting students involved in school, and sometimes are the main reason some students stay in school. Many students wouldn't enjoy school as much if it wasn't for sports. This is not only true for the players but also the spectators. Most students who like to watch sports look forward to Friday nights because of the Football and Basketball games.

We'll Never Forget

Gymnasts Perform Gracefully

Through the grace and exceptional performance of the gymnasts, the Varsity Optional team had an outstanding season. After long, hard hours of exercise, the girls competed superbly in their own original routines on the balance beam, floor exercises, vault and uneven parallel bars. New coaches this season were Rita Bent and Eva Martin. Outstanding performers were Beth Hardin and Gamin Marugg.

Make for Frustrating Year

It was a long and frustrating season for the Varsity football team as they repeatedly came out second best to opponents by narrow margins in hard-fought contests. Early predictions, based on an expected strong defense and a solid yet unproven offense, placed Grossmont among the favorites in league competition. Although the team worked hard and gave their all during the games, it never seemed to be quite enough against tough opposition. For Grossmont this turned out to be a year of building experience, strength, and character. This year's squad was not without its standouts, however. Several players earned the respect of the other teams as well as their own teammates. Junior quarterback Robert Dodson was one of the leading passers in the league during the first half of the season and junior Mark Geraty was instrumental in many scoring plays. Several fine plays were also turned in by senior Chris Merrill and junior Jim Goertz. Defensively, defensive backs Roger Carlson, Ken McDill, and Dale Capehart, all seniors, had very successful seasons and made the team tough to pass against, while linebackers Matt Pfohl and Rocky Reynolds and senior defensive tackle Jim Fleming could be ranked among the best in the area.

The Junior Varsity took a drastic turn for the better after an unsuccessful freshman year last year. Although they approached the season discouraged, the team ended a strong 5-3 for league, not including an easy win over Brawley in non-league competition. Under the excellent coaching of Dave Leasure and Skip 'Bama' Herwitz, JV worked very hard together to accomplish a successful and powerful season. The outstanding offense of QB Phil Clark, R Darryl Gorhm, and RB James Germany with the defense of DL Jon Linderman and LB's Steve Schaeder and Steve Carter combined to give them a strong chance for a very successful Varsity team next year.

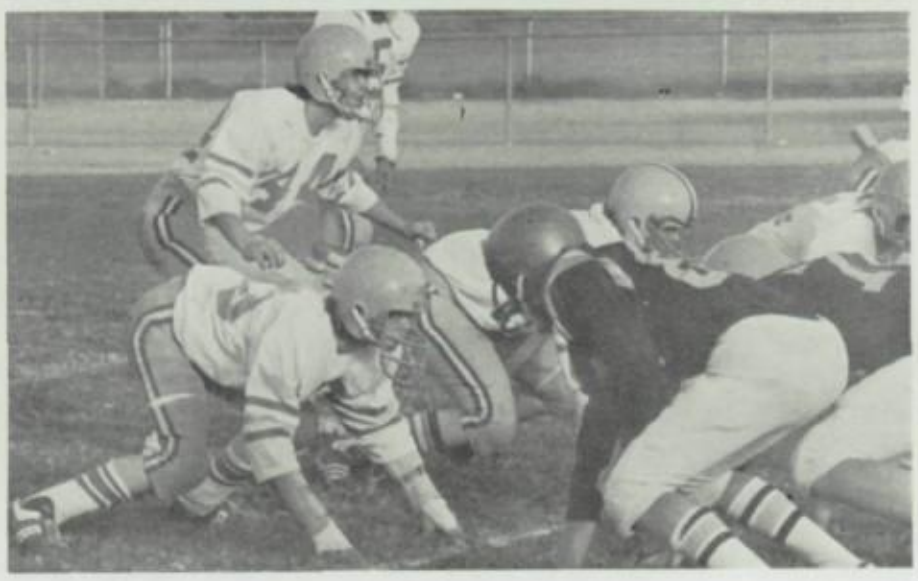
As Frosh Shows Promise



Under the excellent coaching of Jack Lasley and Steve Sutton, the Freshman Football team fought a tough season. They started out with low hopes due to a lack of players trying out for the team. After gaining the experience and acquiring the knowledge they did win one game and battled competitively for the remaining seven games. Outstanding offensive players were QB Dan Smith, RB Craig Hauri and R Paul La Rosa. Outstanding defensive players were LB Michael Trujillo and DB's Peter Vasiliou and Eric Olafson.

Varsity Baseball Bats Through

After winning the City/County Summer League Championship in 1977, the Varsity Baseball team looked to be a strong contender for the league title again this season. With nine returning lettermen from a good squad last year, the team proved solid in many key defensive positions to combine with excellent hitting. The pitching also looked strong behind the arms of senior south paw Ken Berg and righthanders Joe Antista and Pete Lopez. The hitting attack was led by seniors Brent Forsythe and Steve Adams and junior Jim Goertz. Under the coaching of Head Coach Bill Gray, in his seventh year as a Grossmont coach, the team had a traditionally fine season.

JV And Freshmen Baseball Battle

Despite a late start due to heavy rainfall, the J.V. Baseball team looked to be a strong contender for the league title. With a new coach, Tom Boutelle, the team upheld high performance standards and should make a strong varsity team next year.

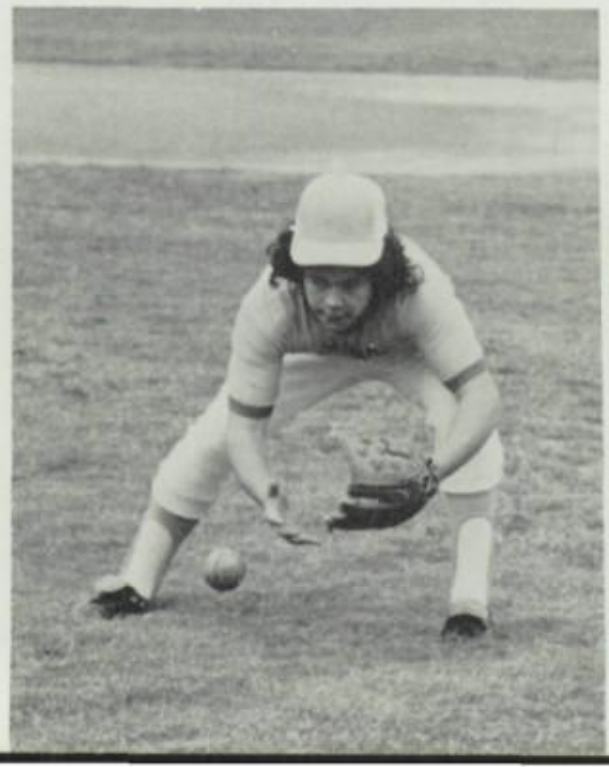
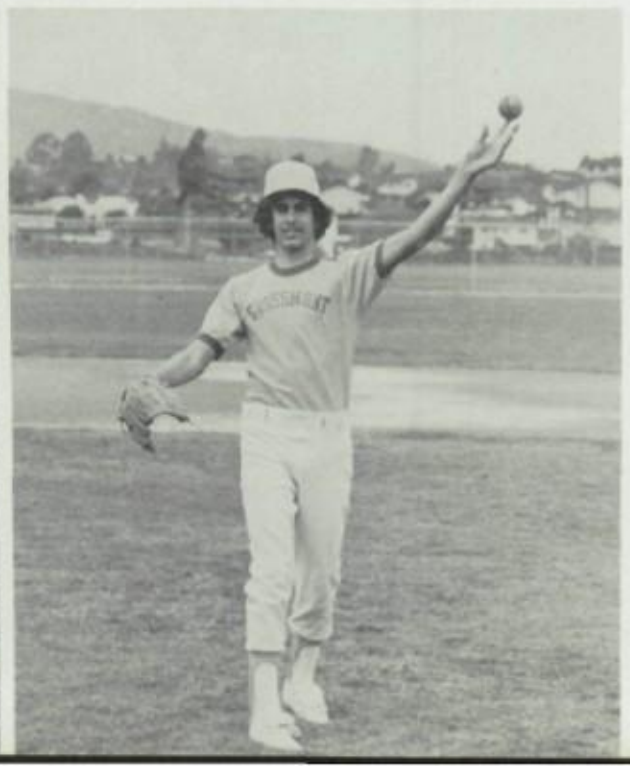
To The Top In League Competition





With high hopes for a winning season the Freshmen Baseball team worked long hard hours on hitting, fielding, and basic fundamentals, finally coming together with a competitive team. Under the fine leadership of Coach Sutton, the team showed the spirit and ability to form the future Varsity squads. Despite the late start due to the heavy rains the Freshmen squad show great poise and came together as a unified team.

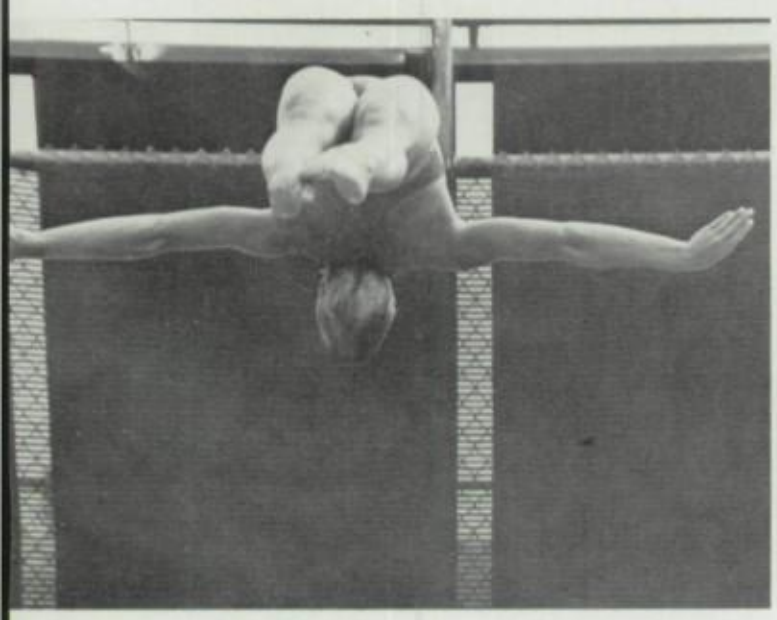
Divers Show Good Form



For this being only the second season, the Girls' Diving Team was very successful. With the superb and experienced coaching of Stan Kessler and the great ability of the girls the potential was there for C.I.F.

Aardvarks' Towel Is Still Wet!

Although the Girls' Swim Team was defeated in C.I.F. last year, they worked harder than ever to regain their #1 position. With the dedication of the girls and the outstanding coaching of Jane Lambert, the Aardvarks led the way into C.I.F.

There was much competition in the league this year with strong opponents such as Valhalla, but that didn't dampen their own enthusiasm for the rest of the season.

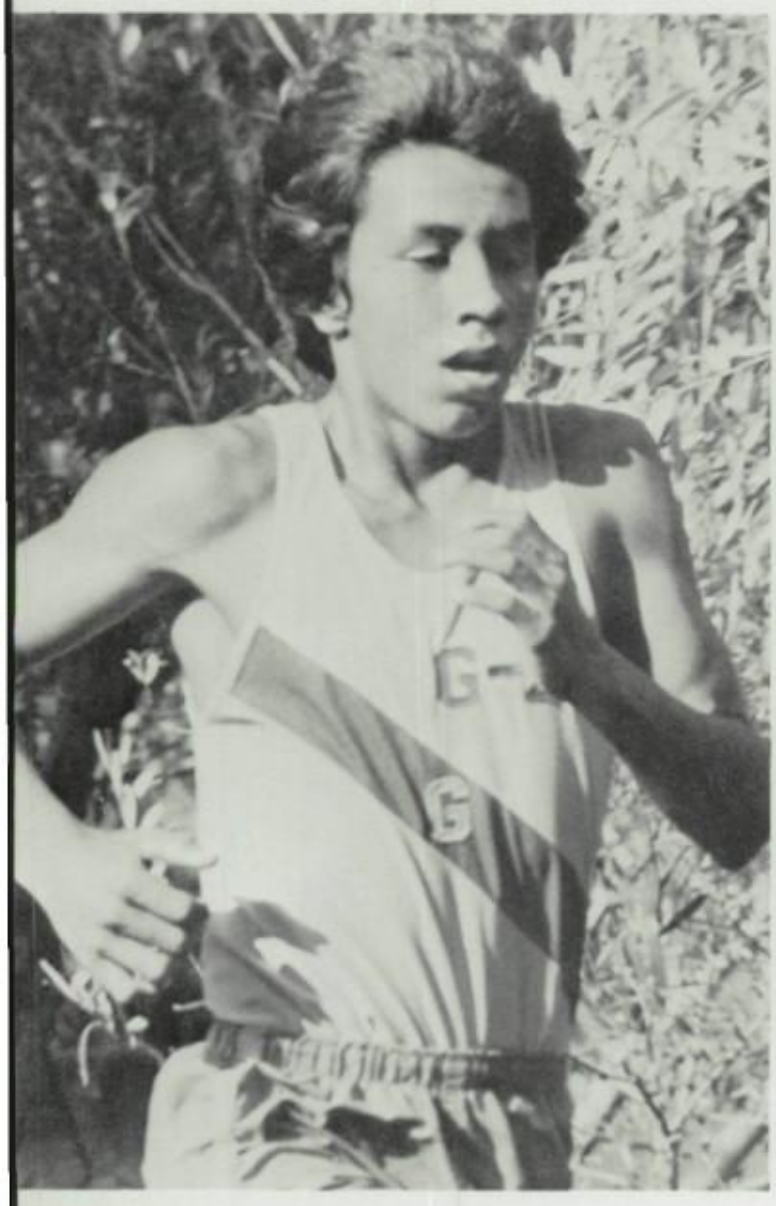
Harriers Stride



Cross Country is a sport which requires total dedication, concentration, and endurance. The runners train over the summer months by running up to 12 miles daily. The Varsity squad, under the guidance of Coach Roger Karnopp, was a very young, hard-working team. The Foothillers were led by senior John Penny, and juniors Willie Ayyad and Russ Sneddan.

Swimmers Leave Foes Washed Up

Coach Chris Morrisey had high hopes for the Varsity Swim team as they defeated their opposition time after time. It was an uphill struggle for first place, however, with Valhalla being their toughest meet. The team was league champions the years 1971-1976, with the title stolen away last year by Valhalla. The swimmers were prepared, and the other teams in the league knew they were up against tough competition. They were led by outstanding swimmers, Mark Misenhimer, Kent Kachigan, Bill Bender, and Tom Gehrke.

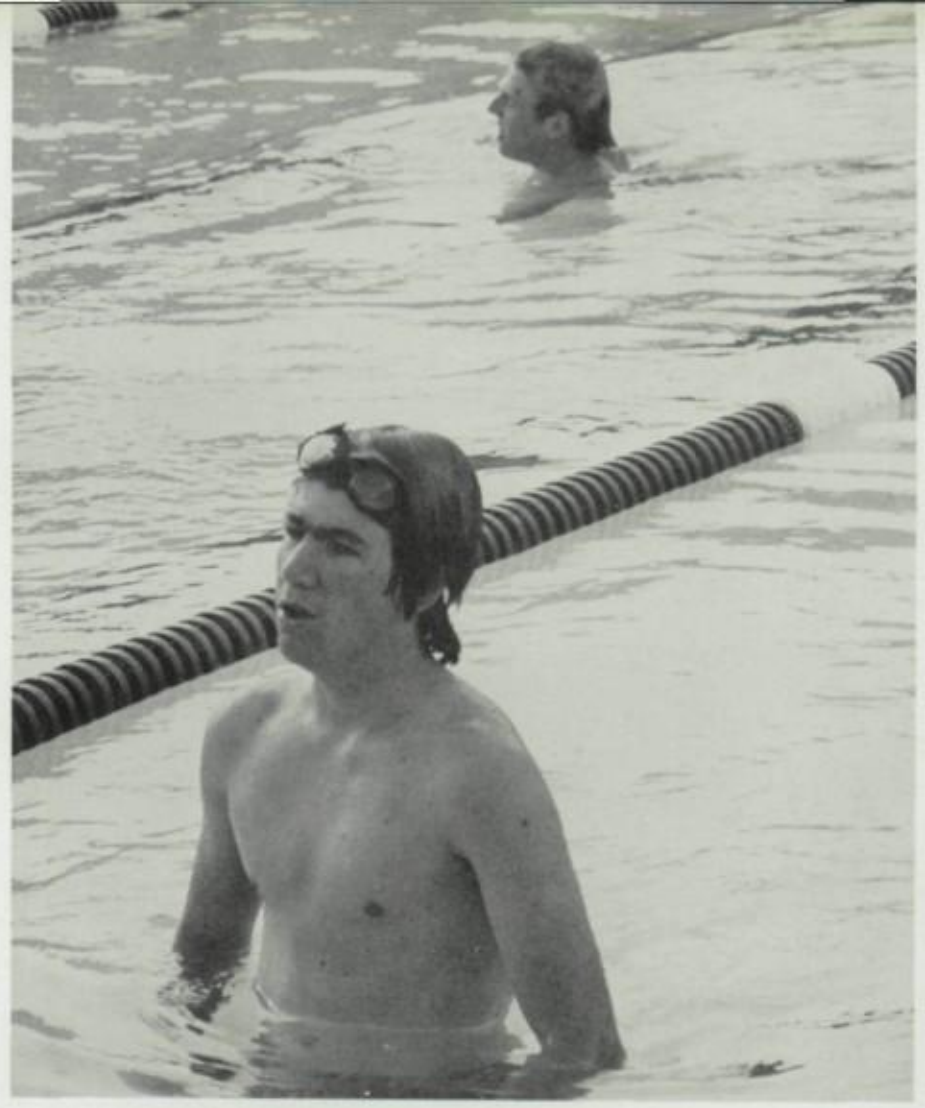
JV Swim Shows Style In Strokes



The JV swim team started the season off with a new coach Tom Bonnet and had an exciting year. Tom was an alumni of Grossmont, graduating in 1976, and was on the swim team then. He was optimistic about the JV team with good reason. Although the JV team did not have much depth, because over fifty percent of the team were freshmen, they did a fine job.

Diving was added to the swim team's curriculum and was coached by Chris Morrisey. Four divers plunged to graceful depths and daring stunts and demonstrated to their adversaries their ability in diving. They had an excellent year as a first year team.

For the Varsity Roundballers

The Varsity Basketball team had a tough season cut out for them with many strong opponents in the league. This was a building year for the Grossmont Roundballers as they worked on their weak points and improved their strong points. Coach Shawcroft relied on the experience and know how of his senior players, Brownie Statts, Bruce Decker, Dan Newport, Mark Pizzato, Ken McDilland. A new face on the court was Steve Smith.

Grossmont did do well in Grossmont Santana 2nd annual Christmas Tournament, playing like a team and taking a second place. Next year with seven returning players, the upcoming J.V.'s and the experienced coaching of a former basketball player himself Jack Shawcroft, the cagers will look more promising in the years to come.

JV Sinks Opponents As

With teamwork and skill the J.V. Basketball team showed consistantly good play on both offense and defense for a very productive season. Through the coaching of Clarence Broadfoot, the team progressed all season long and showed exceptional promise for next year's Varsity team. Leading the team were sophomores Mike Taylor at center and Guards Mike Mathias and James Germany.

Frosh Struggles Through Season

When the season started, Coach Ken Maynard had high expectations of taking the league title, as the Freshmen team has done in the past eight out of ten years. But due to the lack of experience, the team started off on the wrong foot. The highest scorer was John Bissell and Dan Smith and Petro Vasiliou were the two most consistant players. With a lot of hard work, the team continued to improve throughout the season and is expected to be a fine Junior Varsity team next year.

Net-Women Rally

Under the superb coaching of Mrs. Georgia Turner, back with Grossmont again, the Girls' Tennis Team finished in third place in league, with a record of 13 wins and only 3 losses. The high point of the season was the spectacular win over the first place Helix team, defeated only by Grossmont. Depth is the strongest asset to the team. The two most outstanding players are Wendy Ackerly and Michele Armendia. Patty Nicholas and Jenny Smolan showed exceptional performance as freshmen on the Varsity team. Debbie Silvers and Gaylene McCabe placed second in league doubles and qualified for CIF. Julie Cresenti, Wendi Fitzpatrick, Lori Smith and Robin Garcia also qualified.

Poloists Wash Opponents

Using their skill, determination and experience, Varsity Water Polo came together for a winning season, finishing fourth in Grossmont League. Chris Morrissey's excellent coaching reflected the strong year. The squad showed power and depth, with outstanding performances from seniors Doug McDowell, Mark Smith, Don King, Jack Bussy, Mark Misenhimer, and goalie Tom Gherke. Varsity Grapplers Work To Win

The Varsity team fought hard against a tough overall schedule, to try to obtain a winning season. The team was coached by Frank Marsh, who took the Varsity to fill the void left open at the beginning of the year. The team was led by seniors Dave Dudley and Rich Carter, and juniors John Freeze, Matt Vokey, and Tony Tafoya.

Varsity And JV Girls' Teams

For the first time in many years the Girls Varsity Basketball team was very well balanced, and coach Bardon was very confident. Instead of playing their traditional inside game the team had the talent and the ability to play all around. The team had depth despite a few inexperienced players. The Roundballers were also lacking in height but the quickness of the guards made up for the difference.

The returning Varsity players were Jackie George, Gail Groene, Robin Meyer, and Tracy Hoffman, and with the helpful and experienced coaching of Ms. Alice Bardon the girls put away a very successful season.

Give Their All To Basketball

The Girls Junior Varsity Basketball team looked much more promising than in the past. They took advantage of their height which allowed them to play an inside game. There was a lot of young talent on the court, and with the new, confident coaching of Connie Pugh, they worked very hard together and had a successful year.

Spikers' Win League Title

"Hana Ho" is a Hawaiian word symbolizing excellence. Grossmont's Varsity Volleyball team has proved worthy of that title and symbol. They have matched last season's record of 17-1 to again attain the league championship, and have gone into CIF as a first place team. It is not a matter of any single outstanding players, but the combined effort of each individual to make the team. The superb coaching of Miss Mary Jane Lee inspired each member of the team to obtain perfection. The Spikers took third place in CIF.

Soccer Team Gets a Kick

Led by head coach Dick Bullock, the soccer team showed the ability to produce a winning season. The team continually kept pressure on the opposing defense resulting in several scoring opportunities. With only six returning Varsity members it was a rather young team, however fine talent from the underclassmen filled most of the gaps. It was a true team effort as the team combined skill and hard work to average about four goals a game. Many players turned in fine defensive plays and several people scored in each game. A few standouts from last year's squad were seniors Jack Brady, Ted Lithopoulis, Tom Henson and junior Rick Toneck.

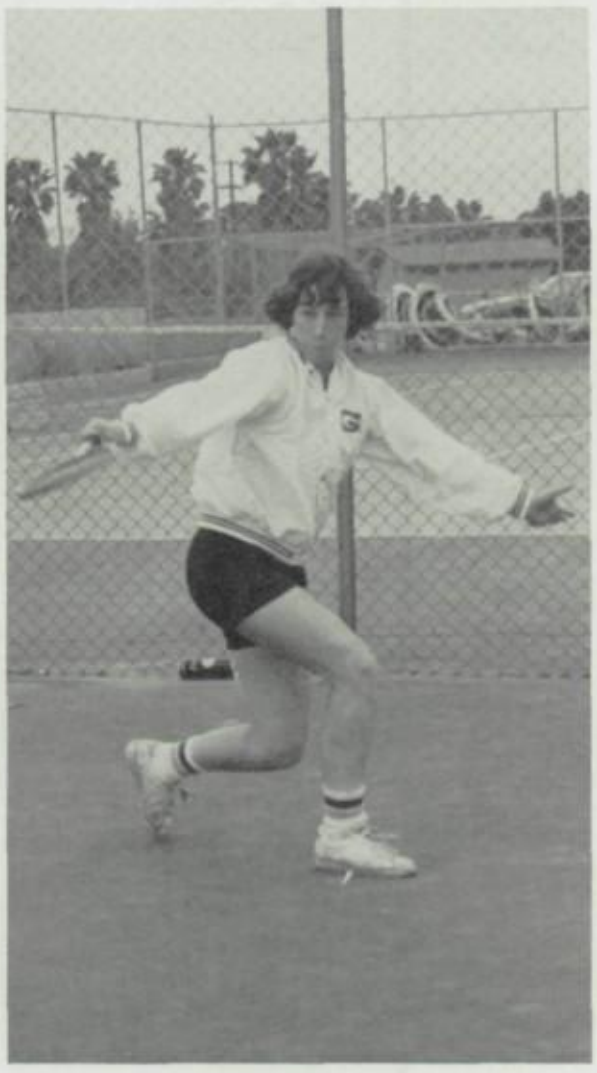
And JV Shapes Up For Future



The J.V. tennis team showed good potential, and experience making the future for Foothiller tennis look good. Due to the lack of courts because of the construction of the swimming pool, the Hillers were forced to go without having a Freshmen team, making the J.V. team take up more freshmen than in past years. The squads were crippled early in the year because of the heavy rains, which postponed several non-league and league matches along with shortening try-outs. The J.V. team was coached by Jack Mosher, who helped them learn and develop many skills and techniques essential in making future varsity squads.

Dancers Sway

Expressing oneself through body movements is basically what Modern Dance is all about. The girls bring out their inner feelings in graceful and fluid motion. Variety comes jitterin' in the forms of jazz, rock 'n roll, the classics, and the traditional folk dances. whether the dancers are stompin' out to the music of the Commodores or performing delicate ballets, they all come together in spirit and form.

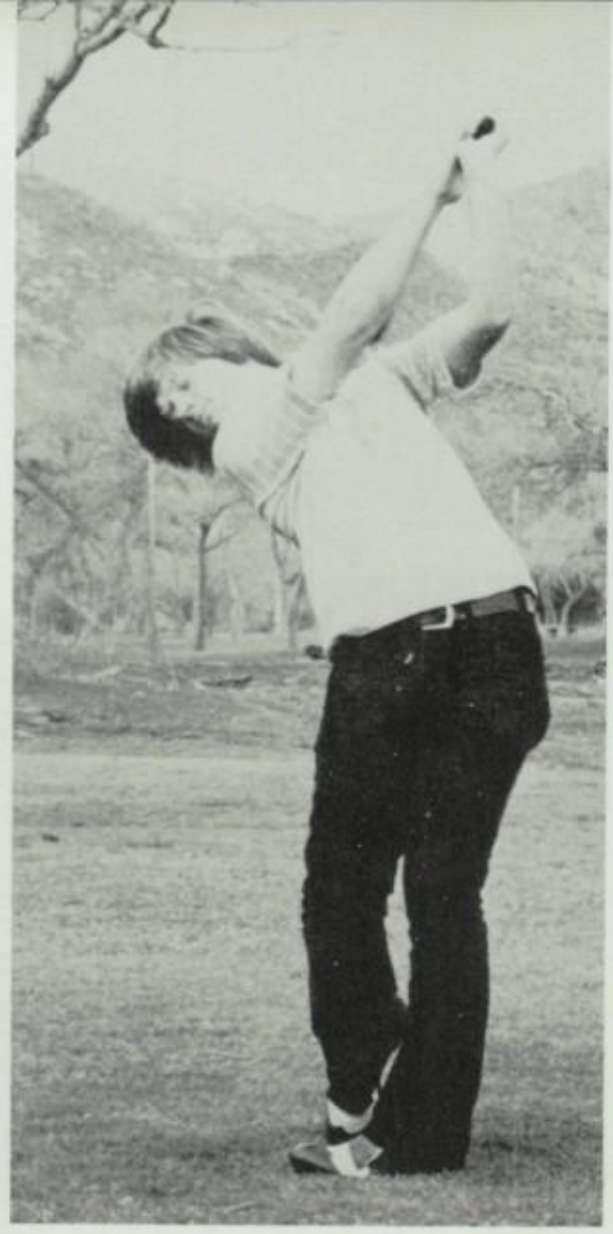
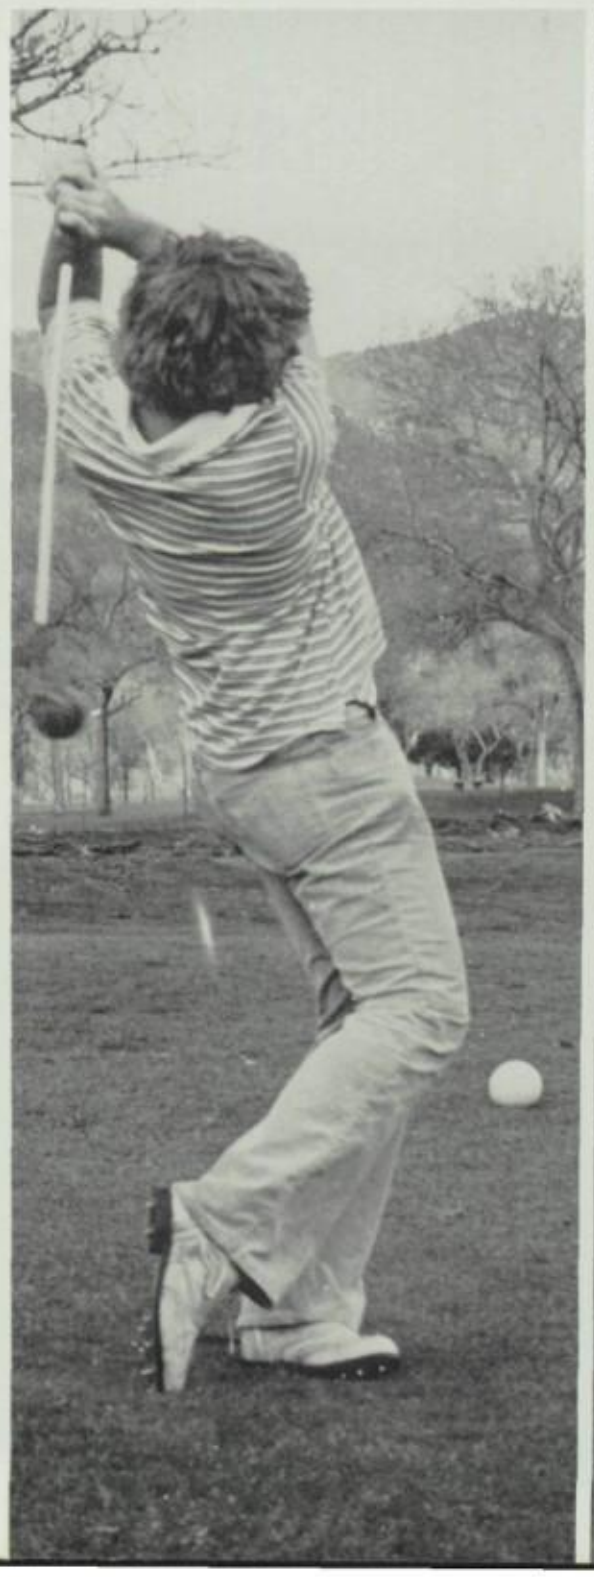
Golf Team Blasts Opponents





With six returning lettermen, the Golf team looked to have an excellent shot at the league title, as well as the C.I.F. title. The squad was led by four-year letterman Dave Griggs, who was an All-League selection last year, and also ranks as one of the better golfers in the area. Also returning are senior Brad Krasnoff and juniors Don Lobb, Paul Jolliff, Jim Cook, and Dan Burgess to round off a solid group. The team lived up to the high standards set by the golf teams in the past few years.

JV And Varsity Softball Teams

The JV Softball team proved themselves eager and skilled enough to place among the top teams of their division. Along with new players, new Coach Connie Pugh was brought on to the field. Coach Pugh felt, "the team was both talented and eager enough to give tough competition to their opponents."

Excel With Enthusiasm And Skill

After being rained out in the first two weeks of their season, the girls Varsity Softball team faced a difficult start with optimism. Coach Susan Sharpe visioned placement in the top of the league standings. She spoke of her players as having the "material to go, fight, and win." Throughout the season the girls maintained high league standings.

V Sets The Pace For Victory

With the experience and enthusiasm of the returning tracksters, the Varsity track team had visions of placing in the top four teams. The season for all four track teams was late starting due to rain. The team's strengths were the long jump, triple jump, sprints, middle distances, long distances and relays, which proved them powerful contenders in league and CIF finals.

Some eminent runners were Dan Garcia, Mario Parez, Jim Germany, Steve Gange, Jim Olsen and Willie Ayyad. Each trackster was permitted to enter only four events at each meet. Coach Roger Karnopp prepared each runner to compete in several events, giving more flexibility and depth to the team.

Top row: M. Adams, C. Gibbs, D. Brewer, C. Cattell, R. Morse, J. Souza, K. Estes, D. Crose, C. Allen, D. Wiesner, J. Brown. Middle row: J. Penny, W. Ayyad, M. Campbell, B. Barnard, C. Sick, P. Hilgeman, C. Merrill, R. Rogers, M. King, J. Olson. Front row: M. Parez, S. Smith, G. Garcia, J. Germany, D. Garcia, S. Gange, B. King.

Bottom right: Running head on, it appears that Steve Gange isn't going to stop for anyone as he sprints for his long jump.

Tracksters Specialize

The JV track team had an unpredictable season due to lack of experience and participation. There was a small turnout of JV runners, causing a need for speciality runners. These runners prepared for only one or two events and tried to attain individual success. The team's strongest events were sprints, long distance running, long jump, high jump and shot put. The coaching received by the former track members and Coach Karnopp was tremendously appreciated and a great advantage to the teams.

The Freshman track team had a small turnout of runners. Their season was a long-tough one as they acquired the basic fundamentals necessary to qualify for future Varsity teams. Coach Dick Bullock had the opportunity to mold the Freshman tractsters into a successful team.

Girls Triumph Over Opponents

The Girls Track Team had come a long way in three years. They have expanded tremendously in their skills, attitude and cooperation with each other. The turnout of over forty girls for tryouts made the team a powerful contention for league and CIF finals. Another asset to the team was the top returning girls, Kim Bunch, Fran Powell, Ruth Bannister, Dawn Whitt, Katalin Fejes, and Eszter Fejes. The team's strong events were the shot put, discus, low hurdles, high jump, quarter mile, and half mile runs. In addition to the returning girls, there were the new girls on the team who improved with each practice and meet, with the help and guidance of Coach Marlin Baer.

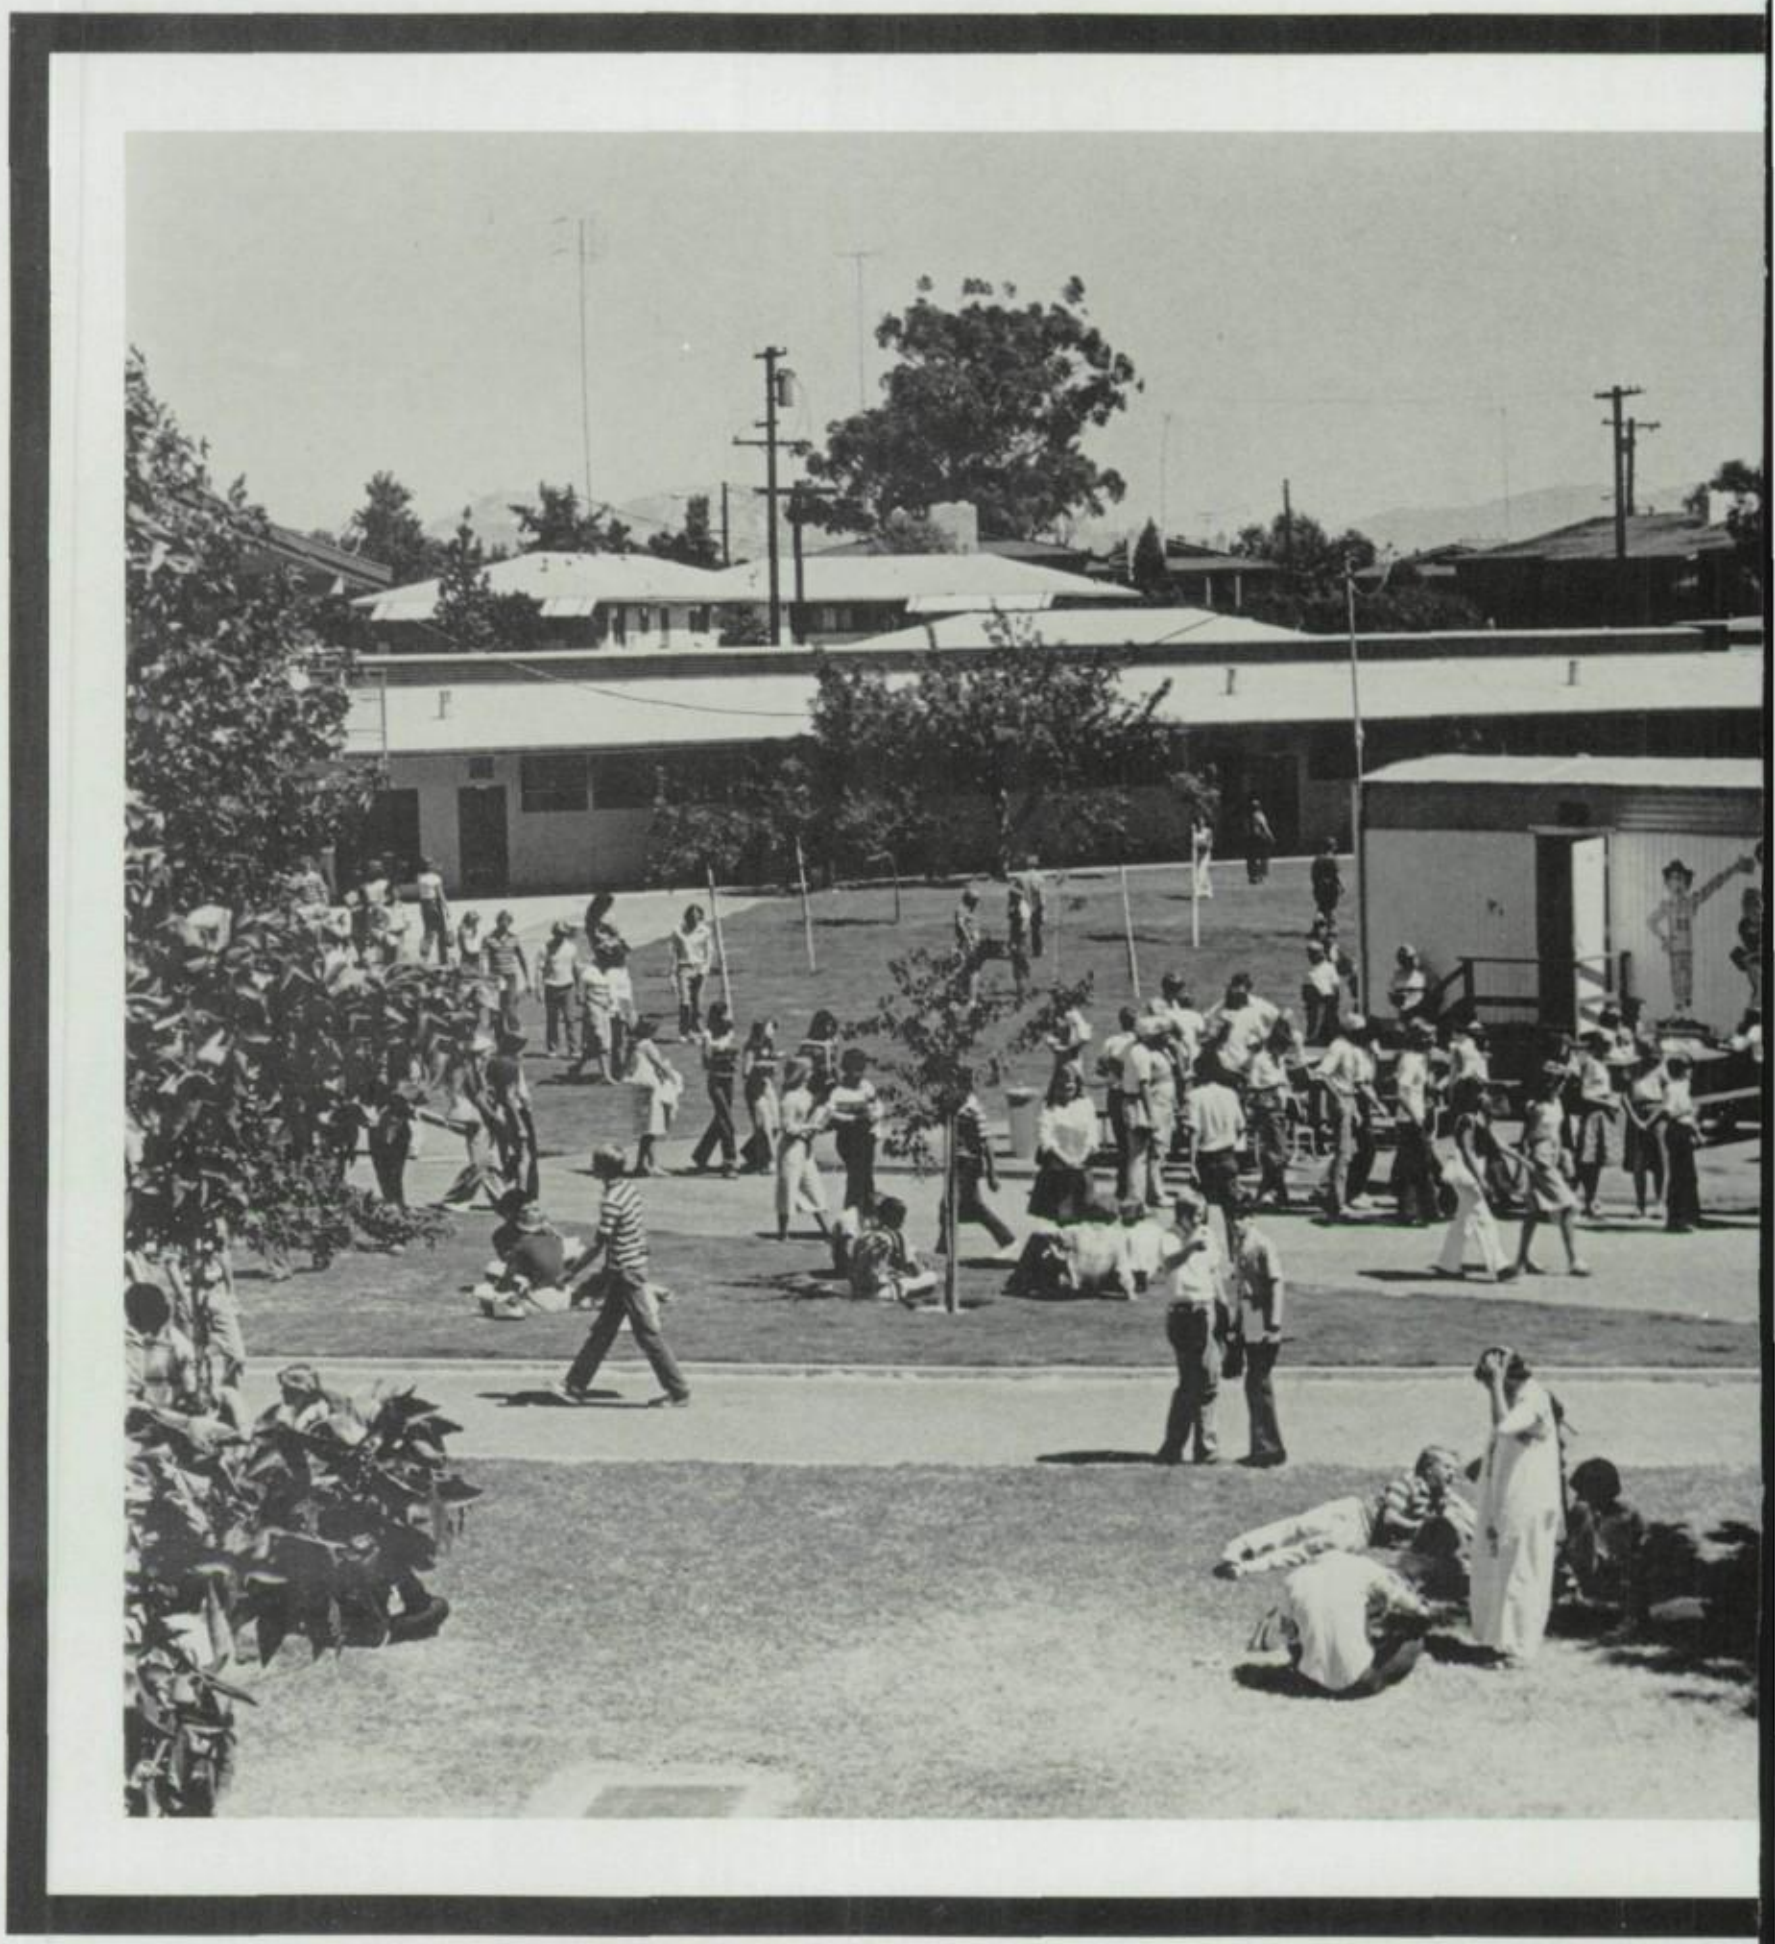
We Came



Section Editor: Sherry Maes

We Worked

Underclassmen look forward to the day when they will be graduating. In the mean time they work toward accomplishing all the requirements. Keeping active in many school activities helps break up the monotony of school work.

Juniors had a year full of excitement and hard work. They had to experience the Math compentency test, which many pulled through, with few scars. The Sophomores had their first driving experiences behind the wheel. This was sometimes frightening to the instructor as well as the student. The lucky Freshmen got to experience their first year at Grossmont, attending their first high school dances, pep rallies, and had a chance to vote in their first high school elections.

We'll Never Forget

Junior Judiciary Helps

The Junior Judiciary, a group of people chosen by the junior class officers, support all activities that are sponsored by juniors. They not only support fund-raisers but they also add spirit to their class.

Officers Make Things Happen

The junior class officers, advised by Steve Sutton, helped raise money throughout the year for the senior prom. The junior ball was one of their main activities used to make money for the senior prom. Car washes and bake sales were also important. The officers were the backbone of all junior class sponsored activities. Without them the junior ball would not have been possible. The officers worked closely together to create, and make ideas happen, resulting in a successful junior year.

Under the good leadership of Dana Jacobsen, class president, the Sophomore Assembly was successful in planning this years activities. Team work and participation were two key factors in the accomplishments. Activities, Telephone, Publicity and Ticket committees were formed to make sure the job got done. There was enough money raised to send the sophomores on their way to a good Junior Ball and Senior Prom.

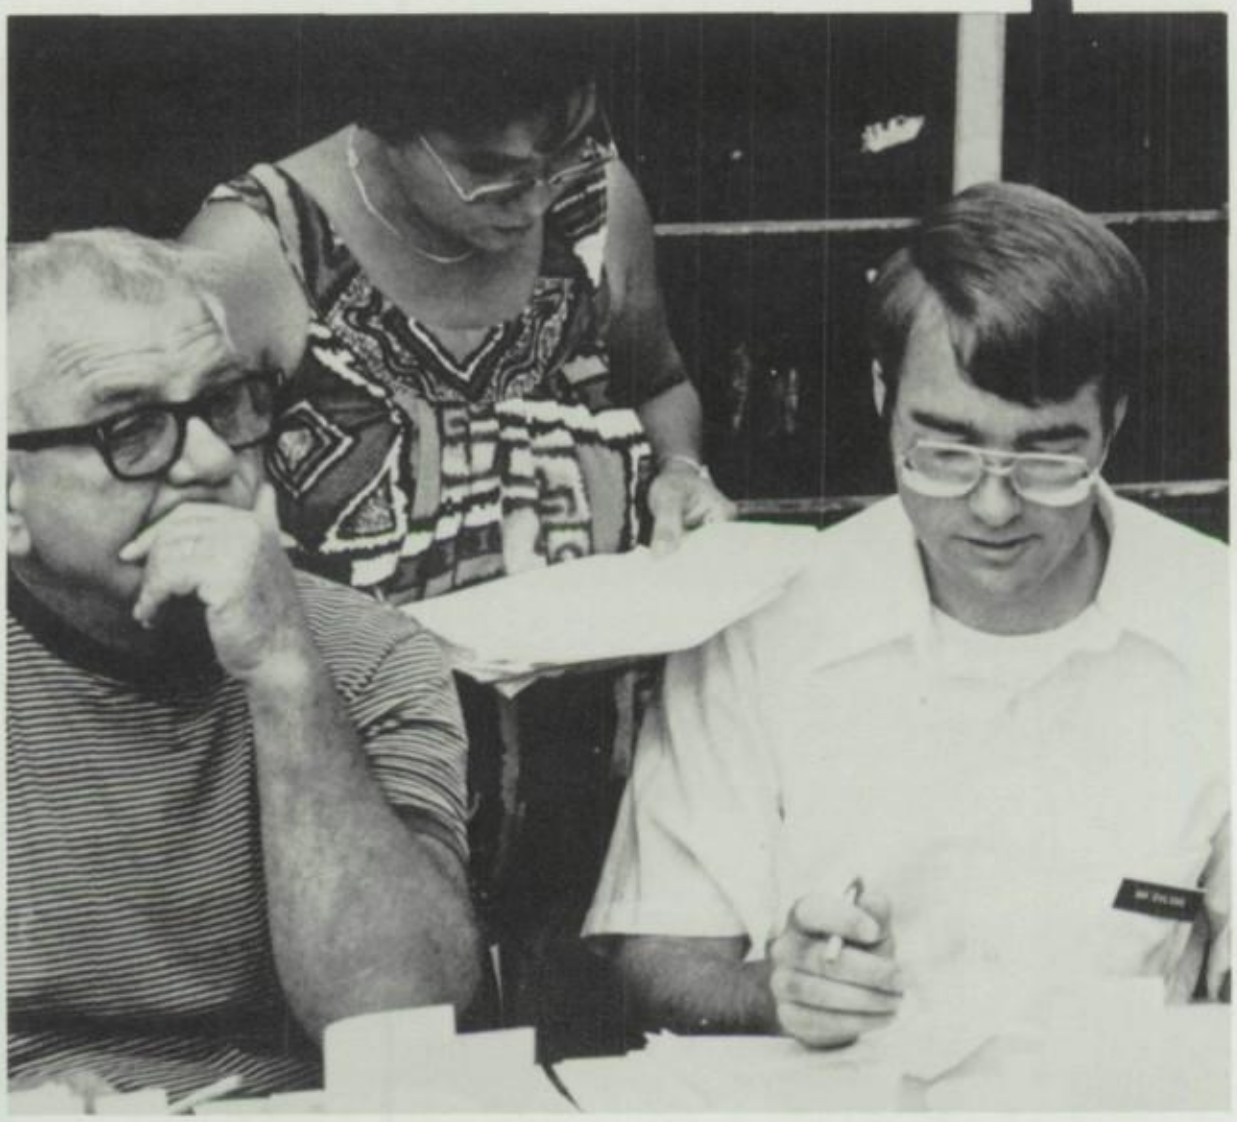
We Learned



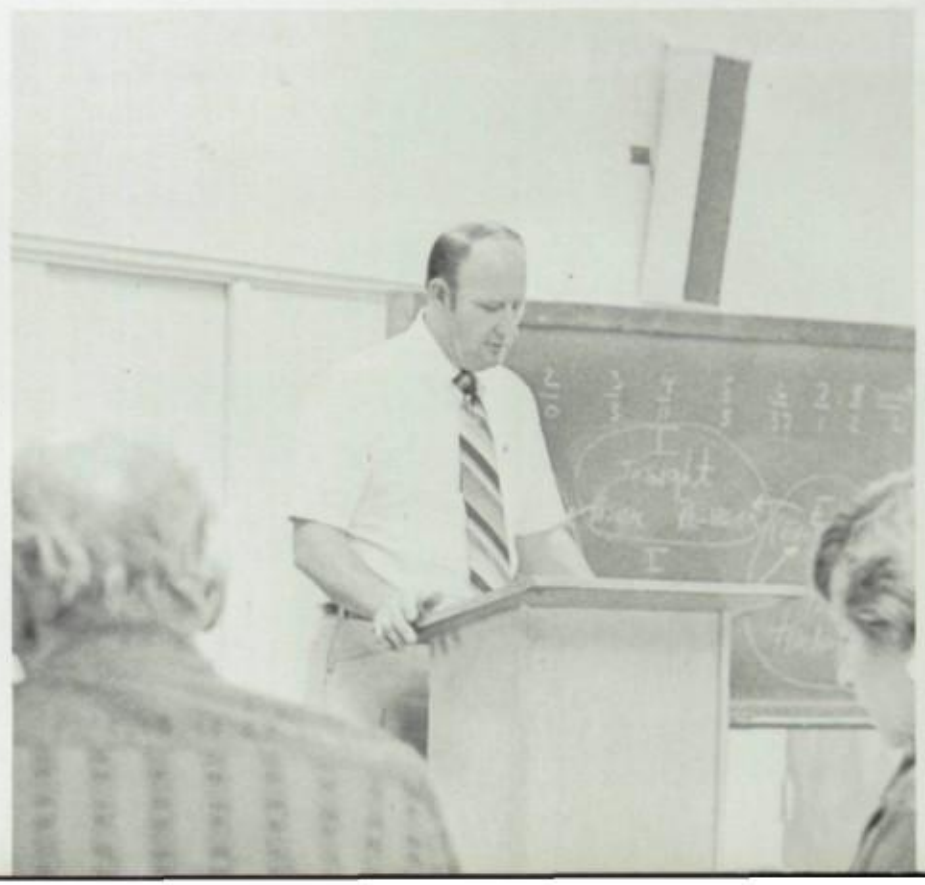
Throughout the year students complained about the unfairness of their teachers. Homework that was not completed was the teacher's fault because he gave too much; a poor grade on a test was the teacher's fault because he did not teach well enough. Often students don't want to take the blame for failures in their school work.

Hopefully students eventually appreciate their teachers and realize how much they learned from them, that any failure was not the fault of the teacher, but the students themselves. The teachers were a great deal of help to the students, and the students learned a great deal from them.

There are a lot of close friendships made with teachers and students. Especially those who spend spare time on other school activities. Such as class advisors, A.S.B. advisor, the newspaper advisor and the annual staff advisor. The students work especially close with these teachers and often become very close friends.

We'll Never Forget

Administration



Grossmont is very fortunate to have such a fine principal and staff of vice-principals. Together they strive to unify the students with the administration and faculty in order to keep things running smoothly.

Principal William Davis, a former Grossmont student, class of 1948, can clearly see the problems which need solving at school. He forsees necessary improvements being made in the curriculum, especially having to do with basic skills such as reading, English and math

Mr. Davis also wishes to help student government, an important voice in school policy, he feels. Good communication between the student body, himself, and the rest of the faculty is a must.

The vice-principals can always be found on campus. Each one has specific duties; Dick Plum is the vice-principal for 9th grade, as well as coordinator of night school and R.O.P. Kenneth Peeters is transportation coordinator. Michael Eddy is connected with A.S.B.; he and Mr. Peeters are vice-principals for 10th, 11th and 12th grade. Vernon Finch is in charge of the council and guidance program.

At top right, Vice-principals Ken Peeters, Vernon Finch and Michael Eddy demonstrate their "pull" at Grossmont while participating in a friendly game of tug-of-war.

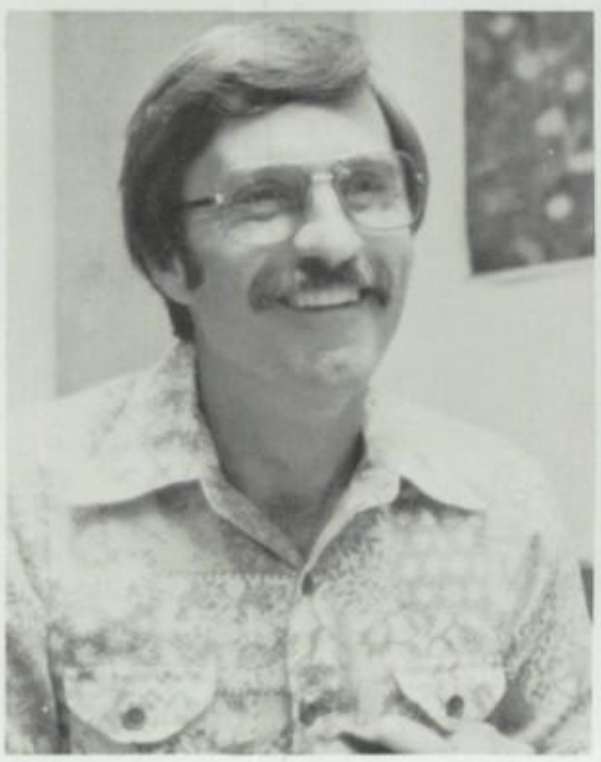
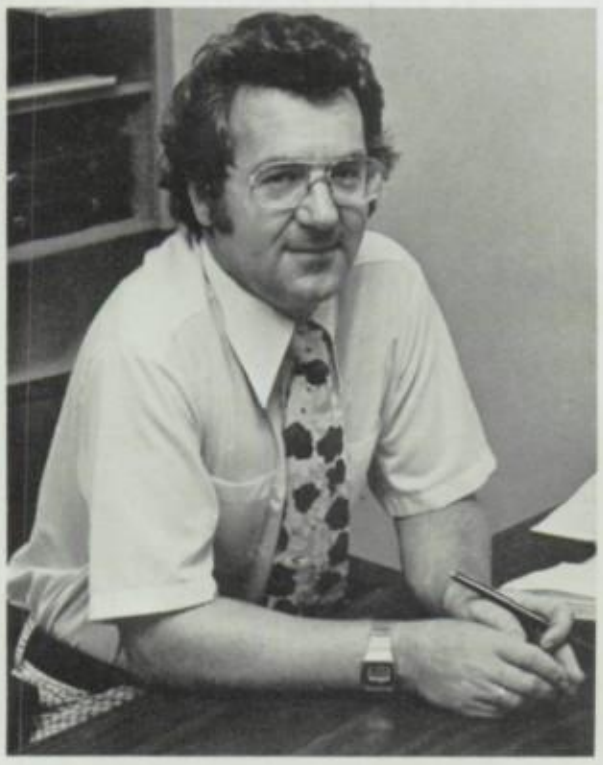
Counselors Guide Students



Toward Successful Future



The excellent staff of counseling personnel at Grossmont is always available to help the students with their problems and get them going in the right direction. Angela Marshall and Nada Lee are the Freshman counselors, each assigned alphabetically to half of the students. For the upper classes there are Michael Roach, the university counselor, Ronald Quast, counselor for state colleges, and Edgar Kintzele, in charge of junior colleges. Frank Kowalski is the vocational counselor; he and Harold Doerr, the work experience coordinator, are situated in the Career Center. The Career Center is an important asset to Grossmont, providing all kinds of information dealing with jobs, colleges and future career possibilities for students.

Below right: Phyllis Crownover, the school nurse, is always prepared for those little unexpected emergencies. The guidance of these people definitely helps shape the lives of the students.

English Department Writes Off Successful Year

Jack Mosher, the new English Department Chairman, set many new goals for English classes and with the help of the department, accomplished them. His major emphasis was on students' writing ability. To insure his goal, Jack Mosher sent many teachers to take special writing classes. Four teachers attended a reading conference in Los Angeles, and two teachers went to a National Teachers Convention of English in New York.

Ms. Robin Luby took the place of Dawn Miller, who now is a counselor at Mount Miguel High School. Ms. Luby was the Chairman of the English Department at El Capitan High School. Pictured directly right: All eyes are drawn to English teacher Sheila Turner except for one student, Jerry Gray, asleep at the podium.

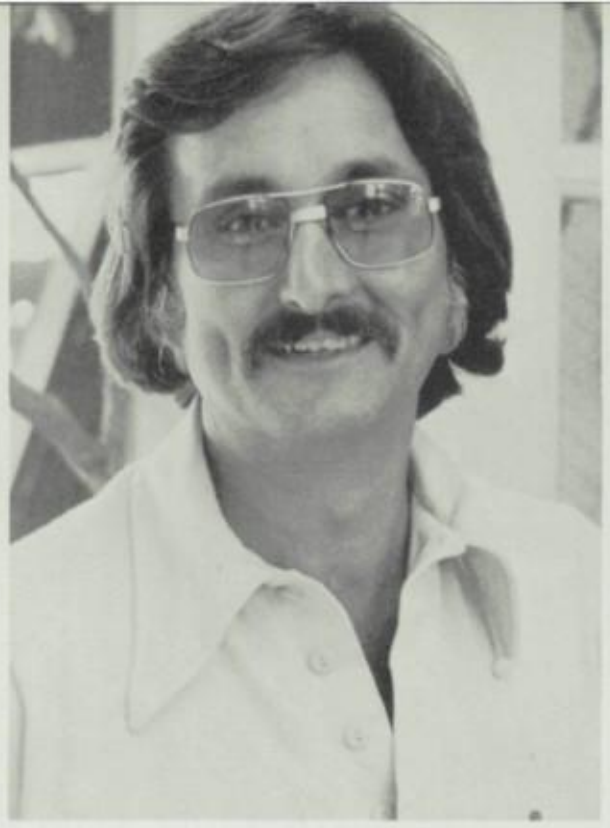
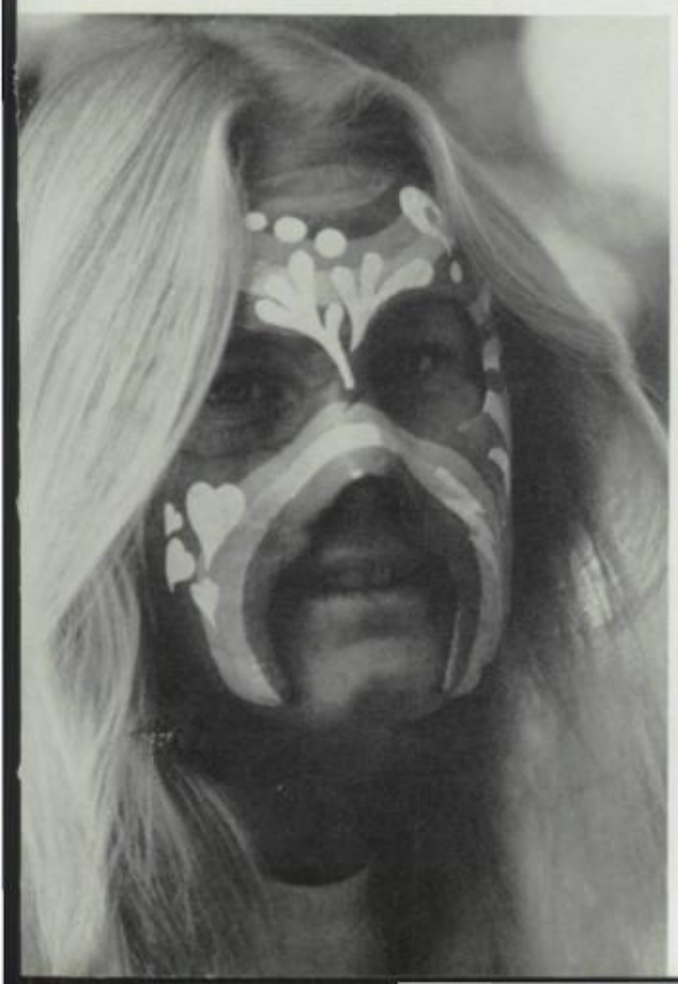
Creativity Flows Throughout Art Students





A new photography teacher, Jean Ledbetter, an alumnus of Grossmont, added talent and creativity to the Art Department. A student teacher, Deidre Lee, from San Diego State University, taught classes in advanced art, design, and beginning crafts during the first semester.

No-fee classes in crafts and art were offered to provide everyone with the chance of getting into more art classes. Carol Lockwood, the Art Department Chairman, said that this was done by cutting the amount of materials that the students would have normally received. Additional materials could be purchased when needed.

Skills Applied By Scientists

Fred Helm taught new classes called Science Seminars, which acquainted students with ecology around San Diego. Mr. Helm went on a sebatical second semester to attend classes at San Diego State University.

The annual Yosemite trip, organized by Larry Nordell, excited and enthused science students once again. The excursion provided on-the-spot experience in learning about the environment, and lots of fun for the students who attended.

Lower center: Larry Nordell grades papers as he teaches Biology, Para-Medics and Chemistry.

Students Learn Job Skills

The Business Department was busy this year with new classes and outside activities. A new Word Processing class opened up to interested students. It involved learning skills on the electric typewriter, as well as other abilities.

DECA, which is a part of the Business Department, included many activities such as the Hiller's Outpost. A State DECA convention was attended, led by Mr. Martin and students.

Basic Arithmetic using computer terminals, was added to the Math Department to help students get practice in basic fundamentals.

The eleventh grade Math Competency Test was held for the second time in two years by the Math Department.

Tom Bonnet, a new T.A., whose main purpose was to tutor students, helped them to a better understanding of math. He aided in individual help of the students for their benefit.

Sums It All Up

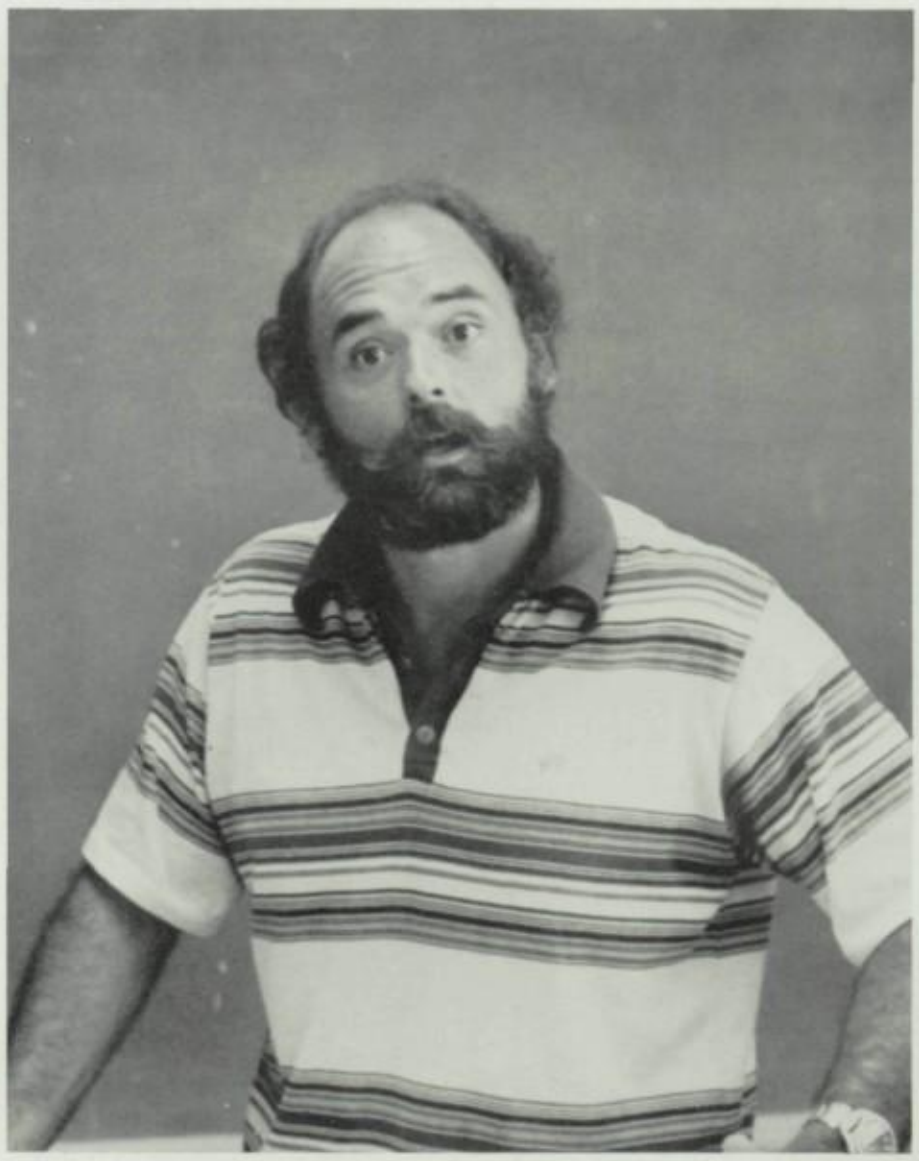
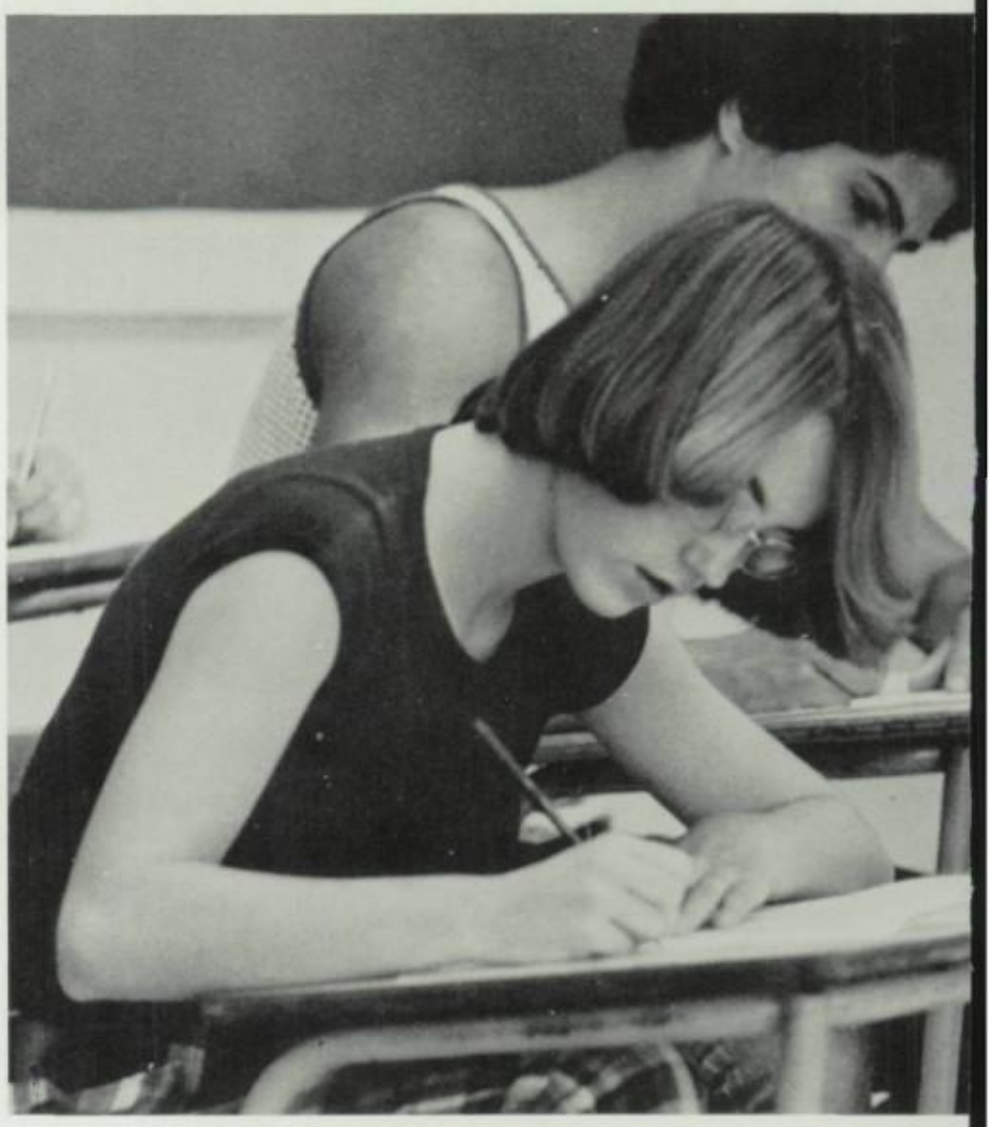
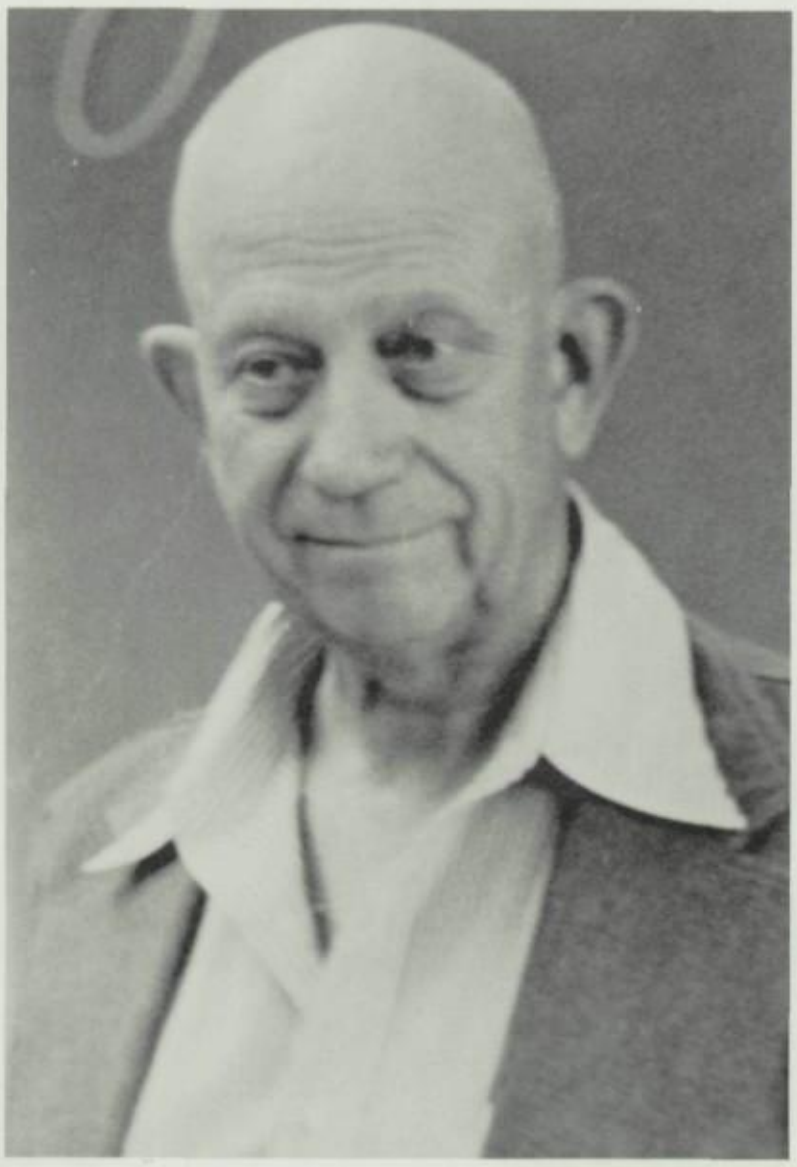
Talented Teachers Lecture





on Social Studies



The Social Studies Department with its usual Civics, History and Geography classes, widely expanded the remedial area. With the help of concerned teachers, slow learners were able to reach higher goals.

Social Living, an up-to-date class where transactual analysis, drug abuse and natural child birth were discussed was of interest to sophomores.

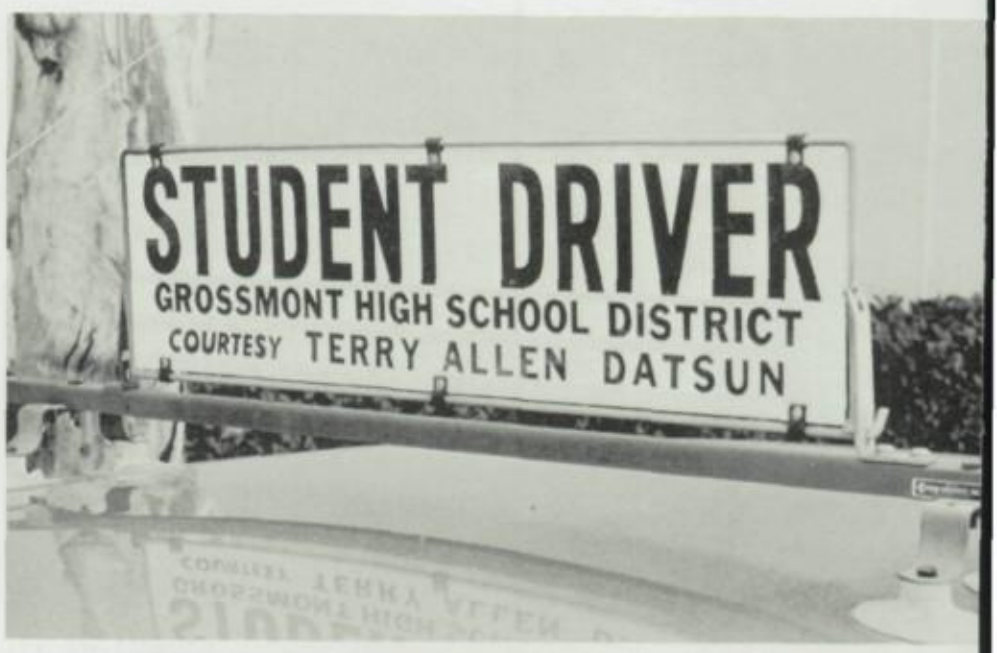
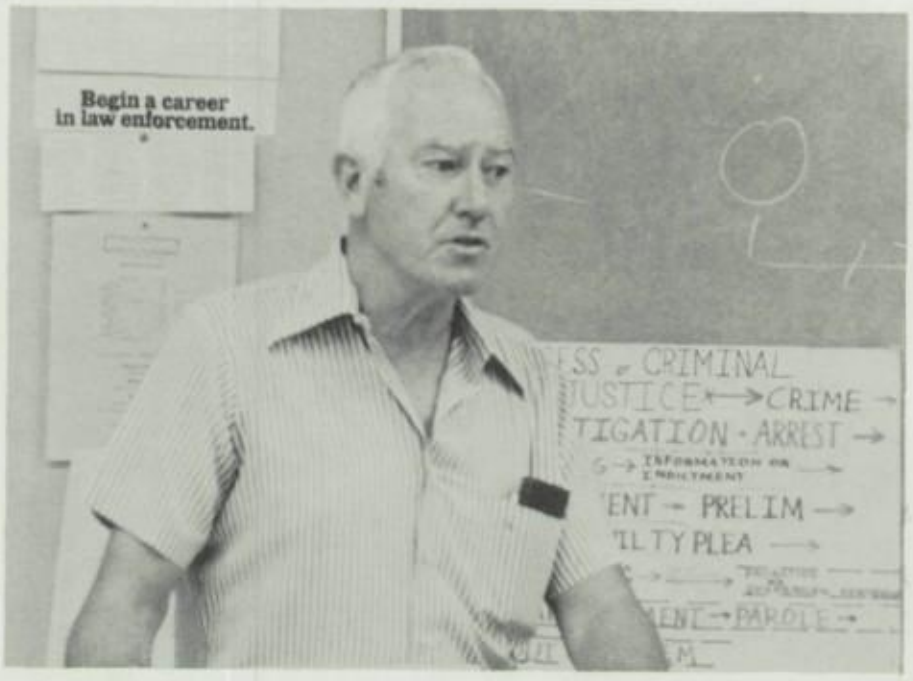
Students Learn From



Students eagerly await the date to try for a valid California driver's licence after taking a semester of Driver's Education and Training.

Law Enforcement is also offered. This self-explanatory class taught by George Dowdy, may have much to offer for young men and women alike, who wish to someday, become probation officers, hot-line counselors, or police officers.



Discussions

Students Show Skills

With willing girls and cooperative boys, physical education proves to be successful. All classes are now officially coed, although a few, such as Modern Dance, remain segregated.

The Language Department, headed by Alec Penny, provides many different fields of foreign language for the students. Courses are offered in Spanish, French, German, and Latin. Perhaps the most popular of these is Spanish; there are five levels offered. Spanish teacher Yolanda Lopez prepares various Mexican foods for her classes as an educational experience, coinciding with holidays such as Thanksgiving and Christmas. Field trips are planned whenever possible; Spanish students spend time in Tijuana for practical speaking experience.

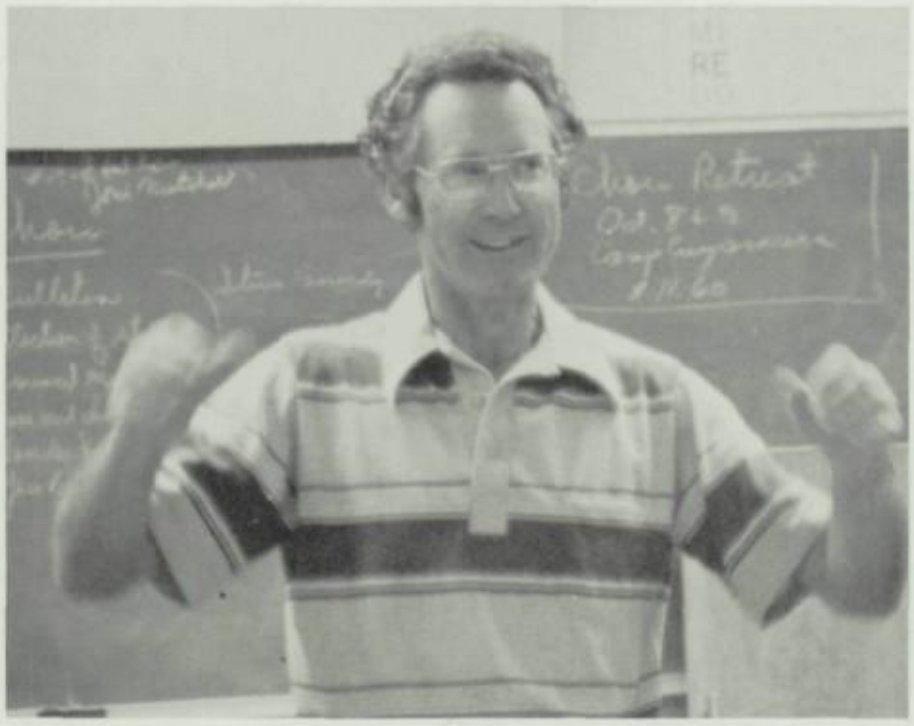
Language, Music, and Home Ec.



Grossmont has an excellent Music Department in which many talented students participate. The vocal groups, directed by Robert Boucher, include Girls Ensemble, Red Robe Choir, Girls Glee, and Men's Chorus. Instrumental music is directed by James Nichols and is composed of Marching Band, Concert Band, Orchestra, Symphonic Band, and Instrumental Music Ensemble.

The Home Economics Department is very helpful in teaching students various domestic skills such as cooking and sewing. This was the first year Kay Lentz taught at Grossmont; she now teaches homemaking classes at two high schools, El Capitan and Grossmont.

Industrial Arts Used On Campus

Industrial Arts classes applied their talents to a school project on Grossmont's campus. A victory pole was erected on which banners of winning teams are flown. At center right, students are pictured pouring cement for the "G" at the base of the pole.

TA's Aid Faculty

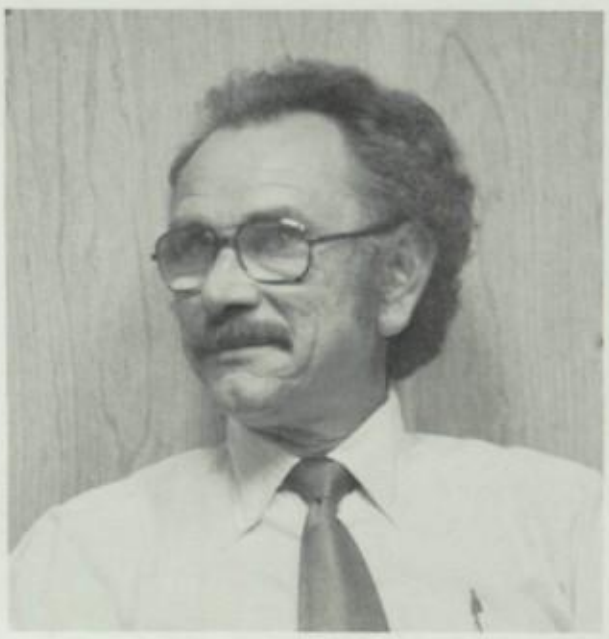
Another group of T.A.'s conducts study hall and supervises the school grounds. Above right top row: Carl Crumpacker and Dean Waasted. Bottom row: Jim Leicht, Dave Leasure and Lee Sherwood.

Special Education Classes



Stimulate Learning Skills

The staff includes, top row: nurse Delia Sammers, Ralph Gardener, Susan Bruce, and Martha Bledsoe. Second row: Brad Baer, Donna Doerer, Eric Olander, and Sally Smelko. Below left are the three EH teachers who work with the educationally handicapped Grossmont High School students. They are Patty Bender, Bob Endres and Carol Lybrand. Unique Events Are Unforgettable

Each year has its own unique happenings that makes it different from past or future years. In 1977, Grossmont finally started construction on the swimming pool. The pool will be located between the girls locker room and the new gym. Most students never thought we would have a pool. There were difficulties with the finances and weather but we will have a great pool, thanks to some wonderful people and hard work.

This winter was extremely wet, unlike last year's drought. We were in dire need of rain, and welcomed the first storm, now we're up to our necks in mud and floods causing damage to property and loss of lives in the county. Huge waves began to erode cliffs, and destroy San Diego beaches. The storms seemed to be never ending. Summer came at last with beautiful days for students to enjoy trips to the beach and mountains.

These were just some of the things that made 1977-78 one of the years that we will never forget. It was exciting, fun, maybe a little wet, but unforgettable never-the-less.
